Three Boys, Two Girls Doing Well

French Quints First Born in Europe

PARIS (AP) — Quintuplets weighing less than three pounds each were born Monday to Mrs. Raymond Sambor, 27, wife of a postman. The three boys and two girls were in good condition.

The babies started arriving at 2:10 p.m., and continued at intervals of about 10 minutes. "We knew a month ago they were coming, so everything was ready," said Dr. Roger Chasques, who made the deliveries.

Mrs. Sambor was already mother of two children. The first to arrive was a girl of two pounds, 2½ ounces. Then came a boy of 2½ pounds, a girl of two pounds, 11 ounces; a boy two pounds, 12, and the final boy, two pounds seven ounces. Each infant was placed in a waiting incubator and rushed to Paris to a national child care center. (Continued on Page 1)

AIR RESCUE UNDERWAY

BULLETIN

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — American missionary Paul Carsons is dead, refugees arriving here from Stanleyville said today. The 36-year-old Californian had been convicted and sentenced to death by a rebel court.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — American Premier Tshombe announced today that a unit of Belgian paratroopers has begun removing foreign white hostages from rebel-held Stanleyville.

Tshombe said the Belgian troops were flown to the rebel stronghold in U.S. air force transport planes and landed at the Stanleyville airport without encountering any resistance early today. He said the operation was accomplished "with the agreement of the Congolese government."

SOME MURDERED
The premier said the troops secured the airport and then entered the city, finding some foreigners murdered and others maltreated. Early reports said 217 had been rescued.

Tshombe made the dramatic announcement in a radio broadcast to the nation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department reported early today that more than 100 foreigners have been flown out of embattled Stanleyville in the Congo, but that 15 to 20 foreigners are known dead.

The airlift operation was launched as a mercenary-led Congolese army attack column pushed toward Stanleyville from the south for what appeared to be a showdown battle with the rebels.

The Belgians landed with the rebel radio Monday threatened to launch a bloodbath against white hostages in rebel hands if the government troops attacked.

TAKE UP MACHETES
"If American bombardment comes to us, take up your machetes and cut up foreigners in pieces," the rebel broadcast said. There had been other reports that the rebels planned to launch a campaign of cannibalism with the hostages as the victims.

A spokesman for the U.S. embassy here said the United States provided 12 C-130 transport planes for the airlift but that no Americans were participating in the ground operation.

Tshombe said he hoped the

Belgians Freeing Hostages

American forces serving in the transport of refugees would leave "as soon as the mission is finished."

At least one battalion of Belgian troops was on the ground. One planeload of troops was known to have parachuted onto the airfield.

After securing the airport, the Belgians quickly seized parts of the city and moved to block all escape routes, presumably to prevent any white hostages from being taken away by rebels.

American officials said in Washington the paratroopers landed down on the airfield at Stanleyville and quickly secured the field with little resistance and only minor casualties.

Officials said foreign civilians immediately began filtering into the airfield and that some had been wounded. There also were reports that some had been killed trying to reach the field, but officials emphasized this was not confirmed.

GROUP EVACUATED
The wounded civilians were being evacuated immediately to Leopoldville, the capital of the Congo.

Although the situation in Stanleyville was described as "confused," officials said that as of 3 a.m. more than 100 foreign civilians had reached the airfield and more were arriving.

FULL APPROVAL
The decision to send the paratroopers in was made jointly by the Belgian and American governments with the full approval of the Congolese central government of Premier Tshombe in Leopoldville.

The state department said the operation was "humanitarian, not military." It said the Belgian forces and U.S. planes would be pulled out as soon as they accomplished the evacuation of all civilians who wanted to leave.

Among those in rebel-held areas were 53 Americans, 825 Belgians, 30 Canadians, 300 Greeks and a number of other persons of various nationalities. Of the Americans, 29 were said to be in Stanleyville.

U.S. officials were not immediately certain of whether all 600 members of the Belgian paratroop battalion were used in the operation or whether some were held in reserve at Kamina in the southern part of the Congo.

CONSTANT REPORTS

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was in the Washington operations centre at the state department into the early morning hours receiving a constant flow of reports on the operation. He and other department officials had been in communication a number of times last night with President Johnson, who is at his Texas ranch.

The first U.S. planes were over the Stanleyville airfield at about dawn Congolese time.

'OUR RESPONSIBILITY'

The U.S. state department said: "This landing has been made (1) with the authorization of the government of the Congo, (2) in conformity with our adherence to the Geneva convention and (3) in exercise of our clear responsibility to protect U.S. citizens under the circumstances existing in the Stanleyville area."

REBELS NOT CONCERNED

The U.S. statement said the decision to undertake the rescue operation came after a conference in Nairobi, Kenya, between the U.S. ambassador William Attwood, and "foreign minister" Thomas Kanza of the rebel Congolese regime.

It said the talk made it clear that the rebels "were not concerned with the safety of the hostages or other humanitarian considerations but rather sought to use the lives of these civilians for political purposes."

New NATO Nuclear Role For Canadian Forces?

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal authorities, including cabinet ministers, now are giving the most serious attention to the possibility of an about-turn in long-term Canadian nuclear weapons policy.

A policy switch to a continuing nuclear role in the North Atlantic alliance might be undertaken, sources say, as one means of trying to prevent an outright break between France and the United States and to induce France to take a greater part in alliance strategy.

Informants emphasized that no definite new policy has yet taken form and that no decisions have been taken.

But even behind-the-scenes discussions were an indication of the seriousness with which the government regarded the split between the U.S. and

France and the extent to which Canada might be prepared to go to heal the breach.

When the Liberal government took office in April, 1963, it said its adoption of nuclear warheads for the armed forces was simply the carrying out of commitments entered into by the previous Conservative administration.

Since then, government spokesmen, including Prime Minister Pearson, have indicated that Canada would withdraw from this nuclear role as soon as decently possible.

FRANCE OBJECTS

Britain has proposed changes in the U.S.-proposed NATO nuclear force of some 25 merchant ships armed with 200 Polaris missiles, a proposal to which France has taken keen exception.

The thinking here is that if Britain proposes putting its entire independent nuclear strike force under NATO command, France might be persuaded to do the same if other alliance members were also willing to go along.

NATO MEETING

Prime Minister Wilson will be here Dec. 9 for talks with Mr. Pearson and later in the month Mr. Martin and Defence Minister Hellyer will attend the annual ministerial meeting of NATO in Paris.

Line Tapped MP Fears

OTTAWA (CP) — Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon, said Monday night he "strongly" suspects his Parliament Hill office telephone line is being tapped.

Mr. Nielsen declined to state the grounds for his suspicions but said they have been aroused for "some time."

'They Fear Banks Will Talk'

OTTAWA (CP) — The Hal Banks case was revived in the Commons again Monday night, Elton Woolliams (PC-Lav River) said there is "high suspicion" that the deposed boss of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.) bought his freedom from the Liberal government. They were "afraid he'll talk."

Mr. Woolliams said Banks still is running the SIU through Red McLaughlin, his former aide who is running for president of the union.

When It's Necessary

OTTAWA (CP) — "The election will be called when it is necessary," Prime Minister Pearson said Monday in a Commons reply to Ken More (PC-Regina City).

BRIBE CHARGE ROCKS HOUSE

Nielsen Cites Tremblay, Favreau Men Douglas Says 'Higher Up' Involved

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MP Erik Nielsen, rocked the Commons Monday when he charged that a former executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay offered a $20,000 bribe to a lawyer in a narcotics smuggling case.

Mr. Nielsen said Raymond Denis, now practising law in Montreal after he was fired by the government a few weeks ago, offered the bribe to Pierre Lamontagne, another Montreal lawyer, who rejected it immediately.

A lawyer and MP for Yukon, Mr. Nielsen also charged that Guy Lord, a special assistant to Justice Minister Favreau until two months ago, tried to "coerce" Mr. Lamontagne by threatening to cut off all further government legal work for him.

INQUIRY URGED

NDP leader Douglas called for a judicial inquiry into the allegations. He said he understands that a third man, higher up in the government, was involved.

Mr. Favreau said he will instruct the RCMP to complete its investigation of the allegations and will recommend to the cabinet that a judicial inquiry be held in camera, to protect the reputations and future of the two men named by Mr. Nielsen.

SEEKING BAIL

Mr. Nielsen said the two Liberal political appointees were seeking to facilitate bail for Leo Rene Maranda Rivard, who was arrested in Montreal June 19 on charges of importing heroin into the United States.

This showed that the tentacles of the Mafia, the international crime organization, had reached into the federal government. He charged that Mr. Favreau tried to cover up the case when he learned about it from the RCMP.

NOTHING TO HIDE

Mr. Favreau denied that he had anything to hide. He said he and RCMP Commissioner G. B. McCallum agreed Sept. 18 that there was not enough evidence to warrant criminal charges.

He angrily accused Mr. Nielsen of condemning Mr. Denis and Mr. Lord without a trial. Mr. Favreau, whose department is handling the case, said: (Continued on Page 2)

Plane Explodes, 43 Killed

ROME (CP-AP) — Forty-four persons, including two Roman Catholic prelates from the United States and possibly a passenger from Toronto, died Monday when a Trans-World Airlines Boeing-707 jetliner hit a road grader and exploded into flames after faltering on take-off.

Twenty-nine persons survived, but eight were in critical condition.

TWA identified the prelates killed as Msgr. Edward C. Daly, 70, who had been bishop of Des Moines, Iowa, since May 1, 1948, and Msgr. Joseph Sondag, of Atlantic, Iowa. They had been attending the Vatican ecumenical council which recessed Saturday and were heading for Athens.

The airlines said Pandelis P. Tasamiris of Canada was booked to Athens on the ill-fated flight, but he was not on the preliminary list of survivors.

The company gave his address only as 1022 Broadway Avenue—it did not have a record of what city he was from. But in Toronto, Mrs. George Christie, owner of an apartment house at that address, said a man she knew by that name left for Athens Sunday.

Aboard the airliner were 56 passengers and a crew totalling 17. Twenty-two of the passengers were employees of TWA and their dependents.

The survivors included 22 passengers and seven crew members.

The flight was TWA 800, which originated in Kansas City and stopped at Chicago, New York, Paris and Milan before reaching Rome. It was going on from here to Athens and Cairo. Airport employees and passengers waiting for other flights in the sprawling, modern air terminal at Rome's seaside Fiumicino field described the disaster this way:

The four-jet plane started down the main runway parallel to the sea. It gathered speed, then faltered. Flames erupted from one of the wheel assemblies.

As the pilot tried to brake to a stop, the plane wobbled and swung from left to right. The plane careened across another runway under repair.

It appeared, under control, but suddenly the right outboard motor hit the grader. The plane went another 200 yards, doors opened and passengers began jumping out. At that moment explosions ripped it apart.

U.S. Teacher Held Hostage By Defiant Saigon Students

SAIGON (AP) — Several hundred Vietnamese students had loaded weapons. One teacher said:

"If they come in here, we will shoot."

Premier Van Tran Huong tilted Saigon's streets with armed troops and police Monday night to guard against demonstrations against his 2½-week-old civilian government.

The high national council of 15 civilians went into session for three hours but issued no statement after the meeting ended. Presumably the council, which has the power to unseat Huong, deliberated Huong's use of force to break up anti-government demonstrations Sunday and political demands for his ouster.

Guerrillas Add Sting

HONG KONG (LAT) — New China news agency reports Communist Viet Cong fighters are developing a home-grown air force with plenty of buzz and sting-wasp.

In a recapitulation of Viet Cong October operations in Tan An and Cholon provinces of South Viet Nam, the Red news agency reported that guerrillas had dug 611 spike-pit booby traps and had placed 130 wasp hives "to be unleashed on the aggressors."

Charge Rocks House

mental estimates were back before the Commons Monday, said he first heard of the allegations against Mr. Denis and Mr. Lord Aug. 14 in a conversation with the RCMP commissioner.

Mr. Favreau said he instructed Commissioner McClellan to have RCMP detectives interview both men the same day and this was done.

DENIED BRIEF
Mr. Denis had "violently derided from the government" bribe to Mr. Lamontagne.

Mr. Denis has been separated from the government. The minister said he had full confidence in Mr. Lord, who left his office in late September to attend Oxford University.

Mr. Lord also is a lawyer from Montreal.

Mr. Favreau said he has not until now referred the allegations against Mr. Denis and Mr. Lord to the law officers of his department, but will do so now that their conduct has been questioned in public.

Mr. Douglas said he was "far from reassured" by the minister's replies. It had been completely substantiated that Mr. Lamontagne had claimed that two government officials had tried to bribe and intimidate him.

UNDER THE RUG
He had the impression that Mr. Favreau had tried to sweep serious allegations under the rug.

Mr. Nielsen said the minister had improperly acted as a judge and had decided that the two officials were innocent. This was the function of a preliminary hearing conducted by a judge.

Mr. Nielsen said at the start he was not trying to raise any "innuendoes or innuendoes" or "to enervate any innocent person."

"However, certain facts have come to my attention which indicate quite strongly that there have been offences committed, under the Criminal Code of Canada, offences which the minister and the commissioner of the RCMP apparently have concluded are not founded by sufficient evidence to warrant prosecution."

He noted that Citizenship Minister Tremblay was not in his seat and said he regretted that "because this matter involves his office."

"The executive assistant to the minister (Mr. Tremblay) at that time, Mr. Raymond Denis, offered a bribe in the amount of $20,000 to counsel who was acting for the United States government on the bail application with the request that he not oppose the bail proceedings of (former union president) Hal Banks."

DID NOT STOP THERE
But the matter did not stop there, Mr. Nielsen continued.

"It was then that the executive assistant to the minister himself, Mr. Lord, entered the picture."

Although expressing the opinion that Mr. Lord was "an innocent dupe," Mr. Nielsen said he called the same counsel and suggested to that counsel that he go easy in the bail application and made representations for the purpose of having counsel acting in this case for the United States government, not oppose the bail application.

Now these are the facts, and the minister knows these are the facts.

Mr. Nielsen said Mr. Lamontagne is acting for the U.S. government in the Rivard case. The U.S. was seeking to extradite Rivard.

He said an extradition order was issued Sept. 25 and Rivard applied for his release on bail sometime in the following two weeks. His information was that Rivard was still in Bordeaux jail in Montreal awaiting a hearing on his bail application.

MEMBERS OF MARIA
He said that men connected with Rivard in a conspiracy charge laid against him were members of the Mafia crime organization.

He said that "the fact remains that the tentacles" of the Mafia have extended into the offices of two ministers of the Crown.

He added, however, that he is satisfied the two incidents happened without Mr. Favreau's knowledge, although this did not mean he had acted properly thereafter.

The charges were levelled during consideration of Mr. Favreau's departmental spending estimates of $51,552,100 for 1964-65.

The justice minister made a short statement in response to questions by New Democratic leader Douglas about whether any pressure had been exerted to get bail for two prisoners in Bordeaux Prison whom the U.S. wants to extradite on dope smuggling charges.

IDENTITY GIVEN
Mr. Douglas identified the lawyer for the U.S. in the case as Pierre Lamontagne.

Mr. Favreau said he and RCMP Commissioner G. R. McClellan had personally studied an RCMP report on the case and decided there was not sufficient evidence to lay charges.

He told Mr. Douglas when the debate began that he would be willing to recommend to the government that a high court judge be appointed to conduct a closed hearing.

Mr. Nielsen produced an immediate angry outburst from the justice minister when he said two of the "offenders" in the incident were assistants to ministers.

"That is an absolute lie," Mr. Favreau shouted. On Deputy Speaker Lamoureux's insistence he amended his words to say Mr. Nielsen's statement was untrue.

Mr. Nielsen said that on June 18 Rivard was arrested and arranged in Montreal along with Charles Groleau, Joseph Raymond Jones and Julien Gagnon and charged with importing heroin into the United States between Jan. 1, 1963, and May 27, 1963 and conspiring to import 35 kilos of heroin into the United States from Mexico on Oct. 10, 1963.

EXTRADITION ORDER
Rivard's bail application was heard July 10, he said, and an extradition order was issued Sept. 25.

Mr. Nielsen said if it had not been for the lawyer's integrity and the efforts made to "bribe and coerce" the lawyer would have succeeded.

Mr. Nielsen said he found "unbelievable" Mr. Favreau's statement that he had not asked the justice department's legal officers for an opinion on whether charges should have been laid. It was normal procedure to ask the criminal law section for an opinion.

The justice minister said that if any additional evidence came to light to convince him a case would have been successful there would be a prosecution.

FIFTH SET
The babies are the fifth set of quintuplets known to be alive.

Four boys and a girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Feliberto Matangui in Mozambique Nov. 16, 1964.

Four girls and a boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer in Aberdeen, S.D., Sept. 14, 1963.

Five boys born to Mr. and centre which specializes in care for premature babies.

The clinic staff studied quintuplets and found no records of any ever having been born in Europe before.

The father, 35, announced the names: Catherine, Thierry, Monique, Dominique, Jean-Luc.

MINISTRY VISITOR
By early evening, Mrs. Samboir was allowed her first visitor.

"an official of the postal and telecommunications ministry for whom her husband works. He was followed by the director of social security."

Normally, the French social security pays families $7 a month for the first child, $14 a month on arrival of second and about $22 with a third. After that, the schedule varies but seven children could make the Samboir family eligible for monthly payments of about $200 a month.

Vaccination for Measles Pointless After Exposure

By JOSEPH MOISNER, MD
(First of Two Articles)

Dear Dr. Moiser: I have heard of shots to prevent measles. If you give them to children who have been exposed to measles, what will happen?—MRS. J.R.D.

The incubation period for measles—the time between exposure and the appearance of the disease itself—is two weeks.

It takes from two to four weeks for measles vaccine to build up into substantial protection against the disease.

Therefore it is pointless to give the vaccine after it is known that a child has been exposed. It wouldn't be harmful, either, but why waste the money and effort?

WHAT TO DO?

It is going to take a bit of explanation to give you a good idea of the different forms of measles vaccine, so I'll put off that discussion until tomorrow. Today we'll discuss the child who has been exposed. What can be done for him?

In such cases, give gamma globulin. This provides what we call "passive protection." The antibodies in it will give temporary protection, but later they will be cast off by the body.

If this is given at the right time (soon after exposure) it can prevent measles from developing. But subsequently the child should be given measles vaccine to provide active or permanent protection.

MODIFY
If the gamma globulin is not given soon enough it is still possible to give a smaller dose a bit later. This will not prevent measles, but it will modify the attack. In this instance, the child will (from the attack itself) build up protection, and hence will not need any vaccination.

Which is preferable? Six of one, half a dozen of the other, but since you cannot always be certain of when the exposure occurred, you don't always know whether the gamma globulin will happen to be timed so as to give the first result or the second.

You can tell afterwards, of course. If the child doesn't get measles, it probably means that it was the first, or preventive method. So play safe and have a vaccination given later.

If he gets a mild case of measles, that's the end of it. How important is it to do anything after a child has been exposed? Of the millions who get measles, and at least 90 per cent of all children will, the majority will recover in routine fashion, and nothing serious happens.

COMPLICATIONS
But of these millions there are some thousands who develop serious complications—pneumonia, eye damage, encephalitis (also known as brain fever) and other things.

Each year across the country, a sizeable number of deaths occur from measles. The percentage of disease complications may be moderate, but measles is so common that death or

An American Tragedy Relived

By Canadian Press

Citizens of the world shared with Americans Sunday the remembrance of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy one year ago.

The tragedy was relived in religious services and in public ceremonies.

Crowds filled the churches where he had worshipped, stood in small groups in the cold at the spot where he was killed, and bowed their heads where he lay buried.

SILENT PRAYER

At Kennedy Airport in New York, 10,000 travellers and workers stood in silent prayer for one minute at noon.

World leaders issued renewed declarations of sorrow—French President Charles de Gaulle, Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and Spanish Gen. Francisco Franco among them.

In London, the Roman Catholic Westminster Cathedral was packed for a requiem mass and a sermon by the cathedral chaplain, Rev. Bernard McGuinness.

ESTEEM AND LOVE

"We remind ourselves that it was our loss, too, because in his comparatively short but so spectacular public life, President Kennedy was the embodiment and expression of all that the Christian world holds dearest," Father McGuinness said.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said that "the esteem and love of ordinary Americans" was shown by the thousands of visitors to his grave.

FLOWERS FOR WIDOW

German students sent red carnations to his widow and in Berlin an unknown mourner placed three carnations on the John F. Kennedy street sign.

Two teen-aged girls in Tokyo, fulfilling a private commitment as they have each month since his death, put carnations, lilies and chrysanthemums on a Kennedy memorial at Yokota air base.

The late president's widow Jacqueline, sought seclusion at her weekend home on Long Island with their children, John Jr., who will be four Wednesday and Caroline, who will be seven two days later.

Shortly after dawn, Mrs. Kennedy's mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, went to the slope at Arlington National Cemetery and placed a spray of wild flowers from Hyannisport, Mass., on the grave.

Before the morning had

Carnations from unknown Berlin mourner passed, other members of his family placed floral tributes beside the spray—a single white rose from Senator-elect Robert F. Kennedy, a bouquet of red roses from Mrs. Sargent Shriver.

Ireland's ambassador to the U.S., William P. Fay, brought a wreath from the mayor of Wexford, in the land of Kennedy's ancestors.

More than 40,000 people filed silently past the grave.

ATTEND SERVICE

President and Mrs. Johnson, both dressed in black, attended a special memorial service in Austin, Tex.

Air force planes flew over Cape Cod in the missing buddy formation—one position vacant.

The mother of the 35th president, Mrs. Rose Kennedy, attended two Roman Catholic masses in Hyannisport, Mass., where the Kennedy family has its summer home.

WEPT ALONE

In Dallas, two policemen placed a wreath of red roses on the grave of Patrolman J. D. Tippit, who also was killed by Lee Harvey Oswald.

After the 15-minute ceremony, Mrs. Tippit walked to a police squad car, sat alone and wept.

Perhaps 500,000 persons poured into Dallas churches for services.

du MAURIER

testing never ends

The name of this apparatus is not important. It happens to be a fraction collector. But what it does is very important to du MAURIER and to you. Our scientist separates the various substances in an extract of tobacco by passing it through a fractionating column. A turntable beneath the column revolves and collects these substances in individual cups. That's how we check the tobacco we use. This is just one of the procedures in a quality control programme that is of prime importance to du MAURIER. If you are a du MAURIER smoker, you are now enjoying the important benefits of this control—if not, make a test of your own. Smoke du MAURIER—full King Size or regular size—for one week. See if the last cigarette isn't every bit as satisfying as the first. Meanwhile, we'll carry on with our own testing. Like a circle, it never ends.

The 500 Fund

ONCE AGAIN, for the eighth year in succession, the Colonist has opened its annual "500 Christmas Fund" which brings a measure of warmth and cheer to that number of needy families over the Yuletide season.

Because of the generous approval and support of its many readers, this is a venture that gives the Colonist much quiet satisfaction, revealing as it does each year the kindly spirit of the numerous donors who answer this appeal on behalf of those in less fortunate circumstances.

Probably no one goes hungry at Christmas time but it is not the lot of every family to encompass the little extras that lift this special celebration above the norm and gladden the heart of the average home. There are those amongst us for whom this fund provides a happiness that cannot be gained.

The intent from the inception of the 500 Fund has been to give a gift without strings, to put in the hands of the recipients a few extra dollars to do with as they wish; to enable them to enjoy a touch of the amenity that Christmas invites and which is prevalent in most other homes. It means for them an easement of the stringency that dampens the outlook at a time when joy and human weal is a hallmark of the festive season.

And the deep gratitude expressed to the Colonist when this monetary gift is received is ample evidence of the benefit it bestows.

This newspaper thanks the many readers who have sustained the 500 Fund in the past and whose donations once again will lighten the hearths of the homes to which their kindness will come as a boon and a blessing.

Waterloo Bound?

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE, who has long sought the recognition of his NATO partners and the world at large that France is an important and major military power, has now culminated his efforts by bluntly calling upon the West German government to ally itself with Paris rather than Washington in the development of any future multilateral security planning for the defence of Europe.

An outspoken critic of the present NATO defence setup with its overabundance of American generals in all key command posts as well as the most vociferous and dedicated opponent of the Kennedy mixed-manned nuclear fleet plan, President de Gaulle obviously feels that the time is ripe for Europe to establish its independence within the Western Alliance.

In the past he has made no secret of the fact that he resents France being called upon to play a subordinate role in the allied military command in Europe. Nor has he hesitated to use whatever influence he possesses to disrupt Washington-Bonn talks designed to establish West Germany as a major partner with the United States in the making of the proposed multilateral nuclear fleet.

Whether the West German government will heed his latest protest is a matter which will have to be decided by Chancellor Erhard, who now finds himself in the unhappy situation of either incurring the wrath of Washington or of seeing the Franco-German friendship pact brought to an abrupt end.

If West Germany decides to fall in line with Washington's proposals—which is the most likely and sensible course for it to follow—de Gaulle could quite conceivably withdraw France from the North Atlantic Alliance as a grand gesture of protest and defiance.

Undoubtedly such a move could have serious and dangerous repercussions throughout the whole Western world. However, though the results would not wreak irreparable damage upon the alliance, they could well bring the recalcitrant president to his knees if the remaining NATO partners took a firm stand against his destructive action.

Though de Gaulle believes—with some justification—that he is something of a military genius, he has never demonstrated any particular ability as an economist. And it is in the field of economy that this modern day Napoleon may well be as decisively defeated as his illustrious predecessor was on the field of Waterloo.

Well Chosen

THE YEAR SINCE President John F. Kennedy was assassinated has seen his name given to memorials of many kinds in most of the countries of the world. But none can have more promise of permanence, conjoined with apt symbolism, than Canada's: a hitherto nameless peak in the Yukon reaching 14,000 feet toward the sky.

The ways in which the late president has been honored are almost endless. No other world leader has been so widely commemorated in geographical terms, according to the National Geographic Society, which has listed some of them.

A traveller, it says, can fly from Kennedy airport in New York to Kennedy airport in La Paz; Bay City in Alaska and a fishing village in Spain renamed themselves Kennedy; there are Kennedy expressways in Maryland, Delaware, Chicago and Brazil; Kennedy bridges in Louisville, Munich, Hamburg, Bonn and Vienna; countless Kennedy streets, in cities as diverse as Paris, Zagreb, Beirut, Limoges and Naples—the one in Metz, France, renamed from Rue Jeanne d'Arc; Kennedy squares in Saigon, Algiers, West Berlin, Rome; an El Presidente Kennedy housing development for poor families in Venezuela; a Kennedy tract of the hallowed soil of Runnymede; Kennedy forests to be planted in Israel and in Ireland; a Kennedy water system in Yemen.

These, of course, are in addition to Kennedy schools, concert halls, research centres, scholarship funds and libraries, including the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Library to which Canada will contribute $100,000.

Streets, bridges, buildings, airports—all things man-made, however, can change and crumble, and the very renaming of some of them in President Kennedy's honor bespeaks impermanence. Canada, in picking a towering, enduring natural monument, has chosen well.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax . . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

IF Shakespeare is aware of what goes on in the realm he left behind him he'll be disturbed, perhaps, to note that he is to be rewritten.

His jokes at least, that is. The modern sense of humor, apparently, can't appreciate his wit. Having survived the attempts to unveil him as an impostor who never penned the masterpieces that bear his name, however, possibly he may just turn over with a smile and relax.

If there will always be an England, as the song has it, there will always be a Shakespeare.

But it seems that another poet, a current one, has been hired to quote him in new guise, more up-to-date to the minute, as it were. Already this rewrite man has made 300 changes in one comedy—the tragedies are apparently to be spared—so he's obviously earning his fee.

In the direction of volume, anyway. Authors suffer many vicissitudes after they're dead. Pundits galore find in their works ideas and aims the authors themselves, I'm convinced, didn't know existed. Other experts are bent earnestly in bringing literary gems up to date. The language bothers them.

I find this latter strange. The joy of much ancient literature belongs in its manner of style and phraseology, so different and thus intriguing compared to the norm of one's own idiomatic menage. I doubt also whether patrons watching a Shakespearean play are as worried about following the precise phraseology he employed as in simply absorbing the majestic sound of the words that came from his pen.

It is doubtful that anyone comes away from the Bard without knowing what his plays, comedies or tragedies, are all about.

But his humor has to be pinpricked, seemingly, to make it understandable to the twentieth century. This too is peculiar and in fact none too complimentary. We pride our modern society on being the smartest, the best educated, the most aware, of all preceding generations. None before us, and succeeding eras have differed equally in their semantic sensibilities, have found Shakespeare too much for them.

Only us, the top-dogs, can't fathom his language. If the few specimens given in the news reports concerned are a criterion, however, there is all the more reason for the Bard of Avon to rest at ease. It's said that the word "disclose," for instance, had been changed to "discover," which is surely Much Ado About Nothing, the play in which this alteration has been made. Probably "misapprehension in the princes" could be baffling if one let it, but to rewrite it as "misapprehension in the princesses" doesn't make this liable to null the audience in the aisles. Nor does "paragon of honor" do much to make an Elizabethan "best of honor" of more acceptable parlance. And if "delights in framing villainies" is better than "toil in frame of villainies" I'll eat my hat.

If these represent the vintage of the changes being made, playwrights aren't going to be enlightened or enhanced. But a spokesman for the new text affirms that such clarification will make the comedies comic. "You just can't laugh at the hamming Shakespearean comedians employ to put over the jokes," he says.

Often you can't laugh at TV comedians either, and they're using material written yesterday in the full flower of the modern idiom.

Firm Stand Needed

Facing Indonesia's Threats

By HOWARD GREEN
Former Secretary of State for External Affairs

THE other day Prime Minister Menzies announced that Australia would consent to men for service in Malaysia. This move should make us realize that there is serious trouble in that area.

President Sukarno of Indonesia is, of course, the source of this trouble. He resented Malaysia combining with Singapore, North Borneo and Sarawak to form Malaysia. No doubt he intended to annex North Borneo and Sarawak himself as they occupy with Brunei, which is still a British colony, the northern part of the island known as Borneo. The southern part is Indonesian territory.

His country has been training guerrillas and sending them into various parts of Malaysia. Time and again he has threatened more extensive military action. In effect Indonesia has been committing naked aggression.

Not many months ago a similar drive against the Dutch on the western half of the island of New Guinea succeeded. In that case the attack could be labelled as a move to free natives from European rule. This is impossible in the case of Malaysia.

By an appeal to ex-colonies in various parts of the world and with the support of the Communist countries, Indonesia was able to mobilize extensive support in the United Nations for her claims against the Dutch. But Malaysia is herself a new nation and one which is highly respected. Hence the Indonesians have found it hard to raise a hue and cry against her on the issue of "colonialism."

The Dutch had been making good progress in West New Guinea in training the people for self-government. Large sums of money had been spent and there were few signs of discontent. However, faced by demands made at the United Nations that the territory be handed over to Indonesia and put under pressure by some of their Western friends—the Dutch gave in and agreed to withdraw.

Provision was made for them to turn over control to the United Nations for a few months.

War was brought home to the Japanese people when a mass raid by Superfortresses of the U.S. Army Air Force wreaked severe damage on Tokyo, 20 years ago today—in 1944. This was the first land-based attack on the Japanese capital and was launched from Saipan in the Marianas Islands, 1,500 miles away. In spite of the great distance each aircraft carried six tons of bombs.

1859 Darwin's The Origin of Species was published.
1929 French elder statesman George Clemenceau died.
First World War: Fifty years ago today—in 1914—Portugal formally entered the war on the side of the Allies; in a third general assault on Allied lines on the Western Front, Germans attacked fiercely from Ypres to La Bassée; British warships bombarded Zebrugghe.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today—in 1939—the French reported 14 Nazi aircraft had been shot down within a two-day period over French soil; Georges Tataru was formed a coalition government for Romania; the new British cruiser Belfast was damaged by enemy action.

been peries to a defensive alliance know as the Anzus Treaty. If Indonesia makes an attack on Australian territory the Americans will be involved at once.

Meanwhile President Sukarno continues his aggression against Malaysia. Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman has resisted and can be counted on to continue doing so. Now Prime Minister Menzies has stated Australia's position with his usual forthrightness—and will have the support of his people.

Australia and New Zealand have always stood together in time of danger and Britain would stand with them. Sooner or later the United States would be involved as well.

In this situation Canada must support her four friends. She could not be neutral if hostilities break out. She has an ambassador in Indonesia and is on friendly terms with that country. Her views should be explained frankly and might even bring about a modification of Indonesian policy.

Moreover strong backing should be given to Malaysia. Our dealings with that fellow-nation of the Commonwealth have always been particularly satisfactory. This is true in all fields, including activities at the United Nations and operations under the Colombo Plan. What aid we have given her has been efficiently handled and in New York Malaysia frequently co-sponsors our resolutions. The Malaysian-Indonesian crisis is one that might well be settled by taking a firm stand now. Australia has set a good example—her friends should support her.

SO you think the Commons has been lively, noisy, sometimes unruly, frequently undisciplined?

If you were here and listening and watching from the galleries of the House every day, you would know this was so.

And you'd be aware that all the uproar wasn't coming from the Opposition side of the House—that the Conservatives for all the fearsome reputation of Leader John Diefenbaker as a no-holds-barred fighter, couldn't alone be held accountable for the din of the donnybrook.

They're getting help. Lots of it.

And, if you'd been around the Hill enough years giving you the perspective necessary to reach a reasoned, fact-founded judgment, you'd understand that the Liberals, perhaps in plain self-defence, have reverted to an old, basically simple and enormously effective parliamentary stratagem.

They have set up, in their backbench ranks, what amounts to a kind of "Opposition to the Official Opposition."

It comprises what the Conservatives call the "Indians" or "Little Chicago" and was recruited to fight a daily verbal skirmish with what the Liberals know as the "Cowboys" on the Conservative side of the Commons.

The working model for the Liberals' band of "Indians" was their "Little Chicago" of 19 years ago, organized for the same precise purpose of coping with the hard core of Conservative Opposition.

Back in 1945, Liberal parliamentarian "King" Jean Richardson, still MP for Ottawa East, formed his "Little Chicago" to verbally gun down the late Karl Homuth, then Conservative MP for South Waterloo, a bull-voiced, one-man mob who was having tremendous fun and political games in rousing the Liberal frontbenches.

Often, when he was in a playful mood, Mr. Homuth, who was built big and bulky like a railway diesel—and could give a very convincing imitation of one blowing for a midnight level crossing—would start hankering at "Little Chicago" started hooting back—40 young, vigorous voices all dieseling in unison—and Karl Homuth was never quite the same again.

Having made such a quick kill, "Little Chicago" went on to gun down anybody in the Con-

Goldwater's Converts

By GODFREY HODGSON from Charleston, S.C.

SOUTH Carolina was one of the five southern states which saved Senator Barry Goldwater from ignominy. With out their 47 electoral votes, he would have won only the five votes of his native Arizona, and those only by a whisker.

Yet there was nothing wishy-washy about his victory here. South Carolina had never gone for a Republican candidate in a presidential election. Until recently Republicans were thought of here as collaborators with the vile Yankees. Yet Goldwater's majority was 52,000 votes, out of an electorate of roughly half a million.

What is more, there was a fervor about it. Take the following quotation: "If unreason triumphs at the polls in 1964, resolute conservatives can make reason prevail in time to save the Republic for their children."

If you were to read that in California or the Middle West you would scent fanaticism. Reasonable Americans, outside the Deep South, simply do not believe that the Republic is in danger.

But the quotation does not come from the lunatic fringe. It comes from the dignified and generally sober News and Courier here, the oldest paper in the south, which is edited by a gentle and scholarly man whom one simply cannot imagine in the same room as the Minutemen and Birchites who followed the Goldwater standard out west.

What is the explanation? Why did South Carolinians, by the thousand, abandon 100 years of loyalty to the Democratic Party and vote for Goldwater? What on earth is happening that an experienced and sophisticated man, living in the ordered calm of Charleston, sincerely believes that the Philistines are at the gate?

The obvious explanation, and the one that tends to be accepted without further question in Washington, for example, can be summed up in a single, ugly word: race.

The south's apostasy is interpreted as an angry lashing out at Negro demonstrations and the Civil Rights Act and all the other things that have happened to upset the southern code of white supremacy.

Southern Republicans deny this scornfully. "The protest is constitutional," says the Charleston paper "not racial." The backlash was less racial than it was a matter of principle," said the Greenville News, at the other end of the state, pointing out that there were just as many defections to the Republicans in areas where there are almost no Negroes. "The backlash vote unquestionably was a major factor," conceded the State in Columbia, the state capital, "but there were thousands of thinking citizens who cast their vote for Goldwater because of concern over Washington scandals, 'big' government, welfare statism, and America's crumbling international position."

There was one interesting local and temporary factor which gave the Republican landslide a push in this state. A few days before polling day Strom Thurmond, the ultra-conservative senator from South Carolina, who led the Southern Democrats

In their 1948 rebellion against Truman, defected and became a Republican.

His motive was not purely ideological. His term expires in 1966. The able and ambitious governor of the state, Donald Russell, is expected to run against him. Thurmond calculated that if he ran as a Democrat, Russell might beat him in the party's primary. In the final election, running as a Republican he should be safe.

That is a calculation in the classic tradition of Southern politics, the most tortuous in the world now that the Balkans have gone over to dialectical materialism. But the tide of Republican, conservative sentiment that gave Thurmond this opportunity is anything but traditional here.

At the deepest level, one must surely dismiss the protest that race was not at the bottom of this movement as rationalization. Race underlies all southern politics, as class underlies British politics, in the sense that everything has been marked by the legacy of slavery and of the civil war and of the doctrine of states' rights which the South erected to defend its "peculiar institution."

But it is perfectly true that South Carolina is not in a state of racial ferment. There have been some Negro demonstrations and no doubt there will be more. There has been token integration at all levels in the state education system. But it will probably be years before there is more than token integration. South Carolina, more genteel than a roughneck state like Mississippi, and more old-fashioned, seems not yet to have reached the point of racial crisis.

Indeed, it is astonishing how little the ancient ways have changed. In this sultry dower of a city, the great white houses still look out from behind their balconies to Fort Sumter at the mouth of the bay, where the guns began the end of the old world; the Negro gardeners still peacefully sprinkle the subtropical flowers, and uniformed Negro nannies walk the white children under the palmettos.

A quarter-mile down any dirt road off the main highway, in an eerily leathery landscape of live oaks festooned with drooping streamers of Spanish moss, you can see Negro families living in wooden shacks, just as they must have lived in the slave quarters. You see gangs of women in bandannas hoeing in the fields, and once in a lane I saw a grandmother wearing a battered tribby and smoking a corn-cob pipe, just like the slave women in 19th century engravings.

In the hill country of the Piedmont there are plenty of textile mills, and the stench of the oil refineries hangs over the northern outskirts of the town of Charleston, as it hangs over New Orleans. But this is still an agricultural economy. The long-fibred cotton that made the Sea Islands famous never recovered from the boll weevil. But there are plenty of villagers in the island marshes who still speak the Gullah dialect, full of words and syntax brought from Africa in the slave ships. And up-country there are plenty of farms where the fluffy cotton is still picked by hand, and where a week's work, with back bent double, brings the humblest-fingered Negro less than $20, at $2.50 for a 100-pound sack.

Charleston may be repainting its great town houses. There are still scions of "that most exclusive chivalry" in the rambling wooden houses of Beaufort, the colonial capital of the island country. There are lineal descendants of planter grandees who show their camellias and their portico to the tourists at a dollar a head.

But life for most South Carolinians is not a memory of cold drinks served by house slaves. It is a job in a textile mill or at one of the military installations brought south by influence in Congress. It is a dreary bungalow in a new development site among scrub pines, financed by a federal mortgage. Instead of home-stilled whisky and home-killed hog, it is broader chicken and canned Milwaukee beer from the supermarket in the new jungle along the highway.

Like most country people ordinary Southerners are staunchly religious, violently patriotic and instinctively conservative. Now they feel that the rest of America has gone off in new directions and left them farther behind than ever. "We haven't lost the Democratic party," say the new Republicans, over and over again, "they've quit us."

This sense of disinheritance is the soil in which Goldwater flourishes. The mood is not altogether rational, and it is certainly not admirable. But in a conservative backwater hampered in spite of itself to the restlessly changing U.S. society, it is at least understandable. (GODFREY HODGSON)

Minister Facing New Race Battle

LONDON—British foreign secretary Patrick Gordon Walker, already flogged once by a "white backlash," is moving into another potential racial uproar in his second attempt to return to Parliament.

Reginald Sorensen, 73, the Labor party Member of Parliament for the London East End constituency of Leyton, is being kicked upstairs to the House of Lords. Gordon Walker, a 57-year-old ex-professor, has been named as the Labor candidate in the by-election—probably in January—to fill Sorensen's place.

His chief opponent will be a Conservative party candidate, 41-year-old engineer Ronald Baxter, who believes colored immigrants to Britain should be sent back to their own countries "if they do not make suitable citizens."

The far-right wing union movement has announced it also will put up a candidate—"and we shall certainly refer to the question of colored immigration."

Youth Withdraws Guilty Plea On Cheque Forgery Charges

Bail was set at $500 Monday in city magistrate's court for a youth who changed his plea from guilty to not guilty on three counts of uttering forged cheques.

Keith Mullaly, of no fixed address, had pleaded guilty last week to cashing three cheques, which police said were forgeries. Monday he told Magistrate J. A. Byers he had misunderstood the charge. He said he wanted to plead not guilty, because he had not known when he cashed them that the cheques were forged.

The cheques, all cashed Nov. 5, totalled $110.

Siphoning gas from a car on an Esquimalt parking lot Nov. 8 cost two youths $50 each Monday in Esquimalt magistrate's court.

Barry Corsi and Gary Gunter, both of 1429 Kings, were fined for stealing $2.05 worth of gasoline from a car on the VMD parking lot. They pleaded guilty. Police said the car was owned by a sailor who was at sea at the time.

Joseph Van Humbeck, 2804 Sooke Road, was told his driving record was not satisfactory.

Charged with careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident on Craigflower Road Oct. 24, Van Humbeck had earlier reserved plea. He pleaded guilty Monday.

He was fined $100 for failing to remain at the scene after hitting a parked car and $50 for careless driving.

The court was told Van Humbeck had been convicted six times of speeding and once of careless driving.

Van Humbeck testified that he had been speaking to Esquimal police on the telephone, reporting the accident from home, when police drove into his driveway.

At the time of the accident he was on 30 days' probation with the motor vehicle branch licence department because of his driving record.

The magistrate is to recommend suspension of Van Humbeck's licence.

A sailor who supplied liquor to another youth was fined $70 and given half a day to raise the money before his ship was due to leave port.

Ronald C. Culbeck, 20, of HMCS Stettler, pleaded guilty to possessing liquor and supplying it to a minor. Police said the youth was seen to pass a bottle of wine to an 18-year-old companion Oct. 21 at Broad and Johnson.

The other youth had been fined earlier for being a minor in possession of liquor.

In Sooke magistrate's court Monday, John Dueck, 756 Millstream, was fined $300 and costs for impaired driving.

He pleaded guilty to the charge, laid Sunday after he was arrested near Jordan River by Sooke RCMP.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history, also, advised reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

How come 3,700,000 Canadians are insured by Metropolitan Life -more than any other company?

Mostly it's because our customers like the way we treat them—and their money. Big as Metropolitan is, we've never lost the personal touch.

With 2,100 field representatives across Canada—a staff of 4,100 in all—Metropolitan always has someone nearby to give personal attention to every claim or question.

These advisers are specially trained to give Metropolitan's famous Family Security Check-Up. This is a clear-eyed analysis of your family's financial security that often turns up assets you never even knew you had.

Your Metropolitan adviser can also show you a number of ways to stretch your coverage far beyond what you thought your budget would allow.

For example, take a simple Metropolitan income rider. This can make a $10,000 policy pay off as much as $50,000 to your wife and children. Something to look into.

Also, be sure to ask how you can start collecting from Metropolitan while you're still around. One way is an ingenious plan that lets you turn an ordinary policy into a retirement fund at any time you feel like it.

These are a few of the facts and figures that explain why Metropolitan advisers are asked to give thousands of Family Security Check-Ups every week. And why almost one out of every five people in Canada is insured by Metropolitan. And also why one out of every two Metropolitan Life policies bought, is bought by one of our present policyholders.

Now—here are some other reasons why more people choose Metropolitan:

- We pay Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries an average of two million dollars a week. Last year, that added up to $104 million. And two-thirds went to living policyholders.

- Metropolitan offers an unusually wide range of life and health plans. This permits your Metropolitan adviser to tailor a program specifically to your needs. We can insure you for any amount from $500 to a cool $5 million—or even more.
- More than 3,800 companies, large and small, insure their employees in Canada with Metropolitan. These companies include some of the largest in the country.
- Metropolitan Life insurance in force on Canadians amounts to $6 billion.
- A pioneer in health education, Metropolitan has given away over 100 million pieces of health and safety literature in Canada.
- Metropolitan has $1,496 million invested in Canada—including $868 million in bonds of Canadian industries and $213 million in business and residential mortgages—getting a good return for our policyholders at the same time as it stimulates business and jobs.

Remember, after the three basic necessities, food, clothing and shelter, the Fourth Necessity is enough life insurance. And the company you get it from can make a difference—a very big difference in the security you provide for your family.

Why not call your local Metropolitan adviser? There's no obligation...except to those you love.

Millions choose Metropolitan Life
—more in Canada than any other company

'He Never Made a Sound'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The emotions and terror of a year ago in Dallas were disclosed in chilling detail Monday in the words of Jacqueline Kennedy, President Johnson's widow, as she recalled the instant the bullets struck. "He had this sort of quizzical look on his face, and his hand was up..."

To Lyndon B. Johnson it all had a nightmare sense of the unreal, unbelievable. "And to Mrs. Johnson the most poignant moment that tragic day—a year and a day ago—was seeing Jacqueline Kennedy, 'that immaculate woman,' wearing gloves caked with her husband's blood."

The grim story of Nov. 22, 1963, and the following events as told in the 26 volumes of testimony the Warren Commission amassed in preparing its report on Kennedy's assassination was made public Monday.

The transcript shows: Despite urgings of officials afraid the assassination was part of a widespread conspiracy to Mrs. Kennedy, in the aftermath of the assassination, there came a tormenting thought of a might-have-been. Suppose, she thought, that she had happened to be looking at her husband when the first bullet struck. She might have pulled him down out of the path of another bullet that tore part of his skull away.

"I heard these terrible noises, you know, and my husband never made any sound," she told the commission.

"So I turned to the right and all I remember is seeing my husband, he had this sort of quizzical look on his face, and his hand was up, it must have been his left hand. "And just as I turned and looked at him, I could see a piece of his skull and I remember thinking he just looked as if he had a slight headache, and I just remember seeing that."

The report of the investigation commission headed by Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, came out Sept. 27. Its verdict was that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting without accomplices, murdered Kennedy, and that there was no evidence of any connection between Oswald and Jack Ruby, the man who killed the assassin.

U.S. air force Sgt. John Edward Pic, Lee Oswald's half-brother, said he doesn't think his mother, Marguerite Oswald, actually believes Oswald was innocent of the assassination but "is out to make as much money as she can on her relationship with Lee Harvey Oswald."

A Legion spokesman said bingo games would resume as soon as possible.

He Can't Believe He Won

Eleven-year-old Russell Murcheson, who won a trip to New Zealand in the Colonist King Fisherman contest, said Monday, "I still can't believe I won."

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Murcheson, 2705 Wade Road, is a Grade 6 student at Colwood Elementary School.

He won the round trip for two to New Zealand with a seven-pound coho caught at Deep Bay on Aug. 17.

"I was real happy when I saw it in the paper. I think the trip is going to be real nice," he said.

He hopes to get in a lot of fishing with his father in New Zealand and said he has already started preparing for the trip by reading part of a book about that far-away country.

Convicts Didn't Need Shovel To Dig Their 40-Foot Tunnel

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Washington's state penitentiary sits on soil so soft you could dig a tunnel with a spoon—and seven prisoners did almost that in burrowing to freedom Sunday.

For nearly six months, prison officials estimate, the fugitives tunneled straight and true, coming out just outside the high prison wall on the east side.

From there they fled to a residential area, kidnapped a Walla Walla couple, drove with them as hostages to Gresham, Ore., near Portland, released them unharmed and then continued their flight in another vehicle.

All had been in attempted jail breaks before. Three were convicted murderers.

Mining Boom Rekindled At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—After three relatively normal months, the floor of the Toronto Stock Exchange resembled a mad house as traders screamed their way through the eighth busiest day of the year.

Speculative mining issues took off for the second time this year and 12,300,000 shares crossed the tape.

McWaters sparked the boom, and led it. The company says it has encountered mineralization in a drill core on its Langmuir township near Timmins, Ont., property.

The stock opened at $1.50, climbed to a high of $2 and sold as low as $1.61. It closed at $1.64 with a 31-cent gain after churning through a whopping 7,700,000 shares.

Industrialists sagged as paper issues were lower. Paper eased 1/2 to 42¢, Great Lakes 1/4 to 25¢, MacMillan Bloedel 1/2 to 35¢, Abitibi 1/4 to 13¢ and B.C. Forest 1/4 to 25¢.

MONTREAL (CP)—Papers and industrialists led the decline as all major sections registered losses in moderate industrial trade.

In industrial, Dominion Textile fell 1/4 to 31¢ and Canada Cement added 1/4 to 50¢.

VANCOUVER—Industrialists weakened with Woodward at 14¢, Tremblay at 20¢ and Rothery at 22¢.

Endako at 12¢ and Bethlehem at 8 1/2¢ were weak spots among leading mines. Speculative issues were mixed.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a moderate loss in advance of news that the federal reserve board had stiffened the discount rate following a raise in the British bank rate.

The discount rate had been increased to four per cent from 3 1/2 per cent earlier in the week.

A loss of 3 1/2¢ by Du Pont was a major depressant to the averages but this was partially countered by Union Carbide's advance of 2 1/2¢.

Financial Times index 30 industrial 32 1/2, off 4 1/2.

Telephone Directory Adds 3,000 Listings

Victoria's new telephone directory, hot off the press, has almost 3,000 more listings than last year's.

Delivery of 75,000 copies of the new book started Friday and officials expect it to be finished next week.

The Victoria directory, containing 59,360 listings in the alphabetical section, compared with 56,725 last year, serves Greater Victoria, Central Saanich, Sidney, Sooke, Ganges and the Gulf Islands.

It took 67 tons of paper to print the new directory, which features a picture of Paul Lake, near Kamloops, on the cover.

Sentence Later

Two Convicted In Beating Case

Two Victoria men were remanded for sentence Monday when they were found guilty of causing bodily harm with intent to wound 24-year-old Nikola Zegarac Sept. 10.

The men, Garry McWhirter and Rodney Leason, are expected to be sentenced next week after a pre-sentence report has been prepared for Mr. Justice D. R. Verchere.

The 11-man, one-woman jury delivered its verdict after three hours and 40 minutes of deliberation.

The jury also delivered a verdict of not guilty to a charge of car theft involving Zegarac's automobile.

Mr. Justice Verchere earlier instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty to a third charge of robbery.

DERELICT SPOT

He said there was not enough evidence to convict them from a legal standpoint.

The men were charged with the offences after Zegarac was found beaten near a deserted spot at Prospect Lake.

Zegarac's evidence was that McWhirter and Leason had beaten him with beer bottles and left him unconscious in the bushes. He told the court he managed to make his way to a house about a quarter-mile away, where he was eventually found.

'REVENGE MOTIVE'
The accused were arrested about two hours later crouching in the bushes near the scene of the beating.

Crown prosecutor J. Alan Baker earlier told the court the motive for the beating was revenge for Zegarac having called police on the accused the evening before the beating.

Zegarac was in hospital four days following the beating. A doctor described his injuries as serious, but not life-threatening.

Driver On Trial In Assize Court

Trial of Barry Robert McGilvray, of Burnaby, charged with dangerous driving began in Assize Court Monday before Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton.

He was charged following an automobile accident Sept. 24 in which a 4 1/2-year-old Sidney boy and his grandmother were fatally injured.

HEAD-ON CRASH
Killed in the two-car head-on collision were James Gordon Worrall, 2129 James White Boulevard, and Mrs. Francis Daniels, 72, of 1317 Pandora Avenue.

Shepherds Held

CRESTON, B.C. (CP) — Two Spaniards described by police as shepherds by trade have been arrested near here for illegal entry into Canada from the United States.

The accident occurred on the Patricia Bay Highway, near the intersection of Wells Road, a half-mile north of Elk Lake.

CONTINUES TODAY

George MacMinn is Crown prosecutor and Donald Anderson is defence counsel.

The trial continues today.

Suspensions Bring Halt To Car Talks

OSHAWA, Ont. (UPI) — Contract talks between General Motors of Canada and the United Auto Workers ground to a halt Monday as the union withdrew to discuss the company's indefinite suspension of six men.

The company said the six were behind the wildest walk-out of 100 employees at the chassis plant Friday. The unauthorized strike, called to protest deadlocked negotiations, forced the company to send 4,000 workers home.

Meanwhile, in Detroit Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers signed a new three-year contract and Ford said it would be back to full production by next Monday.

'It Hurts'

Flanker-back Sonny Homer, who caught one of Joe Kapp's four touchdown passes, sits on bench as Western Football Conference finale nears end on Sunday. He had been hit, and hard, by Calgary's Don Luzzi and, as can be noted, is still in considerable pain. Whether or not injury will keep him out of Grey Cup final is not yet certain.—(CP)

Press Box the Scene Of Momentous Events

By GEORGE GIBSON
(Colonist Staff Writer)

EMPIRE STADIUM — The assignment was straightforward: get the story behind the story. Right, chief? (thow's that Hollywood?)

Getting here is simple. Getting into the park is even easier. I just flash an old "Press Only" label from my last laundry package and stroll nonchalantly through the pass gate. When I hear a startled "Hey, you!" behind me I sprint up the steps to the press box. Ticklish moment there.

UNWANTED: Bit of crowding in the press box, Matt Flattery (I think that's his name), who looks after seating arrangements, points up into the higher regions of the box and says I can sit there if I don't mind sitting next to the coffee pot. Maybe I'd better not say that I do mind as Matt mutters something about "these Victoria guys."

Two other fellows were already there. One is from Kamloops (say, these really are the "B.C." Lions) and the other from Vancouver.

PAID FOR HIS POLLY I ask the second one how come he got the back row and he tells me that last week he had written that the soloist had fought a losing battle with O Canada.

I get settled in. Matt sends up a free program. So me o' d' y passes out sheets of paper telling us that this is the third game of the series and that the sky is overcast, wind southeast at 12 m.p.h. and the temperature is 44. That's outside the press box. Inside it's overcast too (why is it that so many sportswriters smoke cigars? there is no wind at all and the temperature is 94).

TWAS EXCITING But gosh, it's exciting just to be here. By this time the teams are going through physical jerks out on the field. There are a few jerks in here, too. Over in the corner a teletype is telling: the res of the world about the game-to-be, phones are ringing, more cigars are being trimmed and lit.

I gaze down over the rows of neatly-barbered necks. All the big bylines are here — Derek Lighthead of the Province, Jim Hooke and Kim Journey of the Moon, Jim Humblefoot of the Toronto Meteor and a huge delegation from radio and television. Guys like Red Reynolds and Herbert William of CBC, Joe Cadbury from Calgary (check these for spelling boss, I never was too hot on names).

BOAT ROCKED But we're about to commence. Nice job on O Canada this time. It figures. The singer's brother is a pressman in Edmonton. The kickoff. Wow, somehow the game looks more violent than on TV. Little verbal violence in here too as Flattery and a photographer discuss a point of order.

Things are going just dandy for the Lions. Kapp looks like Y. A. Little with hair. Fella comes around with hot dogs, then cups of chili. I bet the guy on my left I get either orange pop or coffee spilled on me before half time I lose. These guys fear real neat.

SOME BLOOD Calgary is dead, a fact that knifes deeply into the gizzards of some. Such language from a Bishop. And on Sunday. Thermopne windows keep crowd noise to a minimum but the squawk box pipes in the yardage marker calls and that hush-league "charge" trumpet. There is a surprising amount of reaction from the fourth estate. After all a nice trip to Toronto is in the balance here for some.

Boy, what a grab by Homer. Another nifty by Claridge. Just like Cletis Boyer. It's a laugh from here. Would it be polite to leave?

But by the fourth quarter it's quiet. The prospect of having to go to work has a subduing effect on many. Somebody runs in and announces the crowd figure as 45 pencils spring into action with precision that would make a computer blush.

Travel plans for the trip east are the big topic now. Johnny Seesaw, the TV guy, groans about having to take the Cardiac Special (this means that the jet stops twice en route). I hope I can make the seven o'clock ferry. This little sally gets only a polite stare.

IN APPRECIATION The Lions' manager, Herb what's-his-name, pops in with three bottles of champagne from his daddy's winery. Three bottles for 45 writers and golden voices. These Lions really know how to live.

Herb says he wants us to know how much he appreciates all we've done for the Lions this season. Now we know.

Hourigan's Kickers increased their lead in the Victoria and District Soccer Association's first division to three points on Sunday by blanking Price and Smith, 1-0.

Vulker Stoldt got the game's only goal as the tailors were balked in their bid to move to the top of the league tables and, instead, found themselves sharing second place with Victoria West, moving up a bit with a 1-1 draw against Brodie's Bakery.

Joe Milligan scored for Brodie's with Nelson Crisp replying for Wests.

SHARE FOURTH PLACE Canadian Scottish and Navy both moved up in Sunday's other matches and now share fourth place with Wests.

Goals by Bonny Eghmodi and Bud Livingstone gave the Sailors a 2-0 victory and Esquimalt its seventh straight loss in a still-winless season. Scots won by the same score, getting two goals from John Rostrom.

Second division play saw Gorge and Oak Bay Marina play to a 1-1 draw, University of Victoria and Wanderers split four goals evenly and Dunlops take a 2-1 decision over Oak Bay.

Archie McMillan scored for Gorge with Jack Robbins getting a matching counter for Marina; Ernie Lenier and Bob Moysey scored for the Students to make up for two goals by Wanderers; Larry Johnston, and Chris Baun and Robin Jeffrey got the goals which beat Oak Bay. Wayne Bryan got the losers' goal.

VIKINGS BOW SEATTLE (AP)—The University of Washington rugby team blanked the University of Victoria 8-0 Saturday in an exhibition game.

Victoria Press, Box 481

VANCOUVER—A new attitude born of the knowledge they couldn't take this one for granted and a few positional adjustments combined Sunday to give B.C. Lions a second successive chance against Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Canadian football final next Saturday in Toronto.

A far different club than one which looked so inept on Wednesday in a 10-14 loss which prolonged the Western Football Conference final, the Lions showed 32,504 Empire Stadium fans just what they can do as they bundled up Calgary Stampeders, 33-14, and sent them back home by the air route.

Badgered Wednesday by the Calgary passing from the spread formation and unable to give their own quarterback protection, the Lions found the answer with a bit of minor looking adjusting which produced major results.

To counter the spread formation, the Lions put line-backer Tom Brown up against the Calgary centre, spread their defensive line a little wider and sent corner-linebacker Norm Fieldgate dropping back to help cover potential receivers.

"We figured," defence-coach Jim Champion explained, "that it would take two men to block out Brown."

It did, but with only fairish results. Meanwhile, defensive ends Dick Fouts and, particularly, Mike Martin, who had himself quite an afternoon, angled in ferociously on Eagle Day and Jerry Keeling. They kept the Calgary quarterbacks inside, forced them to hurry their throws and with Fieldgate back to help out the defence backs, the result was four interceptions.

ADDED PROTECTOR

An even bigger improvement was affected in the offence line, which had looked so bad Wednesday. Instead of sending four receivers downfield the Lions sent three most of the time and had end Pat Claridge dropping back for backfield blocking, taking out the man who was trying to get at Joe Kapp from the blind side.

This one worked, too, with the inspired play of linemen who wanted to erase Wednesday's memories. Kapp had plenty of time to pass most of the time, and Kapp is sure-death when he gets time to fully look the situation over.

ANOTHER CHANGE

With a game planned which obviously called for the Lions to forget their reliance on their great defence and go out and get some points, the Lions opened up from the start and it was Kapp's passing and the great, often spectacular, catching of his receivers which did in the Stamps.

The game was only six minutes old when the Lions struck with "The Bomb", Kapp timing it perfectly and throwing a rain-maker downfield to Fleming, who turned on his jets to leave Lu Bain panting behind, grabbed the ball, feinted two would-be tacklers and went over.

PORTENTIOUS

It was a 71-yard jolter, and while the game was not yet won, it was the forerunner of things to come. After a roughing-the-kicker penalty set up a 42-yard field goal by Larry Robinson. Kapp combined with Ron Morris for a 60-yard play which enabled Pete Kempf to make it 9-3 with a sharply-angled, 12-yard field goal.

BOMBS AWAY

Before the second quarter had ended, Kapp hit Mack Burton and Sonny Homer in the end zone with 24 and 25-yard passes. He had enough time on Burton's touchdown to wave his end into position, Homer scored with an exceptional catch.

Kempf converted each time and it was 23-3 at the half, fairly gaudy but not quite yet safe. Perhaps a bit cautious with their big lead, the Lions suddenly found the score. An interception got the Stamps field position and while they settled for an immediate single, a bad

Held to only six completions in 18 throws, Unitas got three touchdowns on running plays. One was by Lenny Moore, breaking his own record for the second straight week by scoring in his 14th consecutive game.

BROWNS STALL

Cleveland Browns, almost certain to be the Colts' opposition in the playoff game, were temporarily sidetracked, 28-21, by Green Bay Packers.

With St. Louis Cardinals knocking off Philadelphia Eagles, 38-13, the Eastern Division winner won't be known until at least next Sunday. Browns are a game and a half ahead and need two victories in their remaining three games, or two St. Louis defeats, to make sure.

There's a Branch in Your Neighborhood what is red and black with white stripes, and pulls a ton for a few cents a mile?

A CN diesel locomotive . . . pulling power for the most efficient form of transportation on earth.

Here are just a few reasons why it's so good at moving goods:

- (1) It's got the right of way all the way. (2) It's weatherproof. Neither fog nor snow nor rain can stop it.
- (3) Five men keep a 100-car train rolling.
- (4) Steel wheels glide on steel rails with hardly more friction than ball bearings.

There are many more reasons. But these should explain why a diesel locomotive can pull a ton for just a few cents a mile.

True - not all of CN's 225,000 tons of shipping a day travels so inexpensively.

Elephants don't, for example. But, for almost anything you can think of, shipping by CN is the fastest way to save money.

Anywhere along CN's 25,000 miles of track. Most anywhere in Canada's 10 provinces. Put your shipping on the rails. Ship CN and save!

Have you a distribution problem? Your CN Freight Sales Representative has a whole CN engineering team of experts to help him help you. Let CN engineering examine every aspect of your distribution pattern for ways to save you money.

Sights, Sounds, Smells

History to Be Recreated For Centennial Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The sights, sounds and event the smells of Canada 80,000 years ago are going to be recreated for some 5,000,000 Canadians to witness in 1967, the Confederation centennial year.

Those who go to see the show will also feel the chill—physically through a blast of cold air—that accompanied the ice age and the upheavals of the earth that moulded the country into its outlines of today.

CARAVANS, TRAIN

These are to be features of the Confederation train and highway caravans which are to tour Canada in 1967, depicting the history, development and modern progress of the country. The schedule will bring the train and caravans into virtually every community of any size in the country.

The first outline of the train and caravan display is to be given this week to delegates to the 60-member national conference on the centennial in Toronto.

WILL COVER HISTORY

The six display cars making up the train, with 540 feet of displays along the walls, will depict the geological origins and explorations of Canada, the settlement and pre-Confederation periods, the achievement of Confederation, Canadian achievements of the last 100 years, the Canadian way into the future, and Canada's place in the world.

The story line for the train display was condensed also in the six truck-trailer caravans and was then developed by artists and authorities in the most advanced techniques of display.

Not forgotten, for instance, are the little known but colorful personalities of Canadian history—such as Caribou Camerin, a prospector who struck it rich in the Yukon and promised his wife on her deathbed he would get her body back "home" to eastern Ontario. He buried her and exhumed her three times before she finally was put to rest at Summersville, eight miles east of Cornwall.

Aquarium Given Six-Foot Eel

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver's public aquarium has been presented with a six-foot-long Moray eel, the largest in its history. The big eel was sent by air from New York, via Toronto, the gift of former assistant curator Don Wilkie. During the flight the eel was kept in a specially-insulated plastic bag placed inside a temperature-controlled tank.

Pop Singers

Solid Beat Carols

LONDON (AP) — Hark, the Herald Angels Sing, yeah, yeah, yeah.

Fifty-six British pop musicians gave up their Sunday afternoon to sing Christmas carols for 28 youngsters at a home for children in Surrey.

A theatrical agent said it would have cost a producer at least the equivalent of $10,000 to hire the performers for a commercial concert. They sang for nothing.

The concert was arranged by the British pop music magazine Fabulous. Among the pop groups participating were:

Lulu and the Luvvers, Brian Poole and the Tremeloes, the Four Pennies, the Foremost, Dave Taylor and the Banishes, the Naturals and the Rebel Rousers.

"Never in my life have I had so much fun singing carols," said Lulu.

Restricting Smoking Still Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Solid evidence linking heavy cigarette smoking with heart attacks is not great, but personal restriction of smoking is good in any event, a leading U.S. heart specialist said Monday.

The same is true, declared Dr. Irvine H. Page of Cleveland, as regular doctors' recommendations for avoiding obesity and increasing the amount of exercise as possible other means of preventing or delaying coronary attacks.

"While these all seem reasonable suggestions, the solid evidence to support these recommendations is not great," he said. "The advice would, however, be good even if it did not delay the onset of coronary disease."

Page, a former president of the American Heart Association, made the statements in a report to the second national conference on cardiovascular diseases.

Canadians Upset Balance

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians in 1964 went on a major tourist spending spree in other countries, notably Europe.

The result will be a deficit in Canada's tourist trade balance this year after a small surplus in 1963. Over-all expenditures by Canadian tourists in other countries will more than offset spending by visitors to Canada.

Forecasts of this 1964 trend and some of the reasons for it will be given today in the annual federal-provincial tourist conference by officials of the bureau of statistics.

Last year Canada had a favorable tourist trade balance of $13,000,000. Visitors to Canada spent $602,000,000 while Canadians spent $589,000,000 in other countries.

LONDON (UPI) — The lost, properly office of London Transport has a key in its possession which leads to the Newgate prison scaffold, demolished 60 years ago.

There have been no claimers since it was left at the luggage office three months ago.

Radio Licence Lifted

OTTAWA (CP) — The Board of Broadcast Governors today ordered a one-week suspension of the broadcasting licence of radio station CHRS St. John's, Que. It was the first suspension order by the board since it was set up in 1958.

The BBG acted under the Broadcasting Act which gives it authority to suspend any broadcasting licence for up to three months for violation of or failure to comply with conditions of the licence.

The board made its suspension proposal after finding that some CHRS programs were running up to half an hour longer than recorded in program logs required by broadcasting regulations.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a regular reader of your column and was interested in the collection of letters you published on co-ed pyjama parties. The following week you printed a letter about a yard party (the girl is supposed to make two costumes—her own and her boy friend's—out of one yard of material).

I have a new one for you. At this college in Long Island (I'm a junior) the latest fad is a "Pig Party." All the boys in the fraternity pitch in $1. The boy who shows up with the ugliest girl wins the money.

It sounds sort of mean but honestly, Ann, these parties are a million laughs. There are some unseen advantages which should not be overlooked. It gives the homely dames (who would otherwise never get a date) a chance to go out once in a while. Of course they never know why they are asked, so no harm is done. Don't you agree this is a howl?—FRIED SHOES.

Dear Fried: It's the crummiest stunt I ever heard of. Send me the name of the character who dreamed up this one. I'd like to mail him a get-well card.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband told me yesterday that I am an idiot. Why? Because I can't cook or bake anything unless I have a cook book propped up in front of me. His mother never owned a cook book. She just kept talking to see if it needed a little more of this or a little more of that.

Parish Fete At Langford

Annual bazaar of Our Lady of the Rosary Parish in Langford will be held in the new Parish Centre, Goldstream Road, starting at 2 p.m., Nov. 28.

In addition to the many stalls, including home baking, miscellaneous, Christmas gifts, and a Kiddies' Carnival, there will be afternoon tea, followed by a smorgasbord supper. Bingo games will be held in the evening.

APCA AUXILIARY

Monthly meeting of SPCA Women's Auxiliary will be held in the YMCA building at 2:30 p.m. today.

The other evening I was fixing a rib roast. When my husband came into the kitchen and saw the meat thermometer stuck into the roast, he almost broke up. He had never seen a meat thermometer before and insisted only a screwball would go for something like THAT.

Please print my letter, Ann, and let my husband know that people who follow recipes and cooking instructions are not idiots. It would help if you added a line saying you follow recipes, too. Thanks.—CANADIAN COOK.

Dear Cook: Sorry—I'm in your mother-in-law's category and, I'm not bragging, but apologizing. I never feel more like a kitchen idiot than when I am happily ignoring instructions, guessing and tasting, then suddenly things don't seem quite right. So I have to rummage through the trash can to find the box and read the instructions.

Some excellent cooks do not follow recipes but the vast majority of homemakers get better results when they do.

Dear Ann Landers: I am secretary to an important executive. These past two years I have met many attractive and interesting men but almost always they are married. I decided long ago not to get mixed up with a married man.

Two weeks ago a charming and unmarried young man came in to see my boss. My boss was in conference so we had a nice 20-minute conversation. He invited me to dinner that evening and we hit it off beautifully. The next day he took me to lunch. I mentioned I was searching for a certain record album. He said, "If I find it what do I get?" I replied, "A nice big kiss."

The album arrived yesterday. Mr. Perfect comes back to town next week. Rush your advice.

NEEDLES AND PINS

Dear Needles: Label this one, "Acknowledge—but no action."

Palfrey-Grabas Wedding First in New Church

St. Thomas Church in Saanichton was the setting recently for the double-ring ceremony uniting in marriage Mary Lynne Grabas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Grabas, 3215 Island View Road, and Mr. Stuart William Palfrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred J. Palfrey, 4200 Glenford Avenue.

The wedding, performed by Canon J. Rogers, was the first to take place in the new church which is built on land formerly owned by the crown's parents.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a classic gown of white peau de soie featuring controlled skirt and detachable train appliqued with French lace. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Maid of honor, Miss Frankie Pierce was in a short gold and yellow gown and carried blue carnations. Bridesmaids, the Misses Wendy Vantreight and Wendy Palfrey, sister of the groom, were gownned alike in pale blue. Pink carnations were in their bouquets.

Mr. Alan Coyette was best man. Ushering were Mr. Fred Grabas and Mr. Leighton Palfrey.

Mr. Ted Eaton proposed the toast to the bride at the reception which followed in War Amps Hall, Oak Bay Avenue. A four-tiered cake, made by the groom's mother, centred the bride's table.

MR. AND MRS. PALFREY

For her going-away ensemble the bride chose a blue, three-piece wool knit suit.

The newlyweds are now making their home at 4220 Glenford Avenue following a honeymoon trip to California.

Should we discuss it!

How do you start? Do you turn to your husband and say, "I've been thinking—if you appoint a friend or one of our relatives to act as executor of your will, there is no guarantee I won't outlive him. Now take Canada Trust—I can't outlive them."

Or, do you say "Harry dear, did you know that the fees for executors are set by the Courts—so it costs no more to have Canada Trust handle the administration. Besides Canada Trust can help you plan your estate so that unnecessary taxes are avoided."

You'll be glad you did discuss these important matters affecting the future. To help you, there is an easy-to-understand Canada Trust folder. It explains how to ensure that one's wishes will be faithfully carried out, whether the period of administration lasts for one generation or several. You should discuss it, shouldn't you?

RNABC Meets

The R.N.A.B.C. Greater Victoria District had a dinner meeting at the Tally Ho with 139 nurses present, when guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Roy Watson, sociologist from the University of Victoria.

He discussed the changes in society and how this influences nursing. Specialization, changes in the structure of the family, mobilization of people and the social value of maintenance of health are some of the changes that have taken place. Nursing is taking on a new role because of this and more knowledge is required to cope with it, he said.

A short business meeting followed. Miss J. Hamilton reported on the Fraser Valley District conference on continuing and higher education for the graduate nurse. This conference was held in New Westminster during October. The district decided to have an Education Day in the new year.

The engagement is announced of Margaret Elizabeth Duke, daughter of Mr. Robert C. Duke of 2258 Neil Street, and the late Elizabeth E. Duke, to Mr. Gordon Kenneth Munk of Edmonton, Alberta, son of Mrs. Clara Munk and the late Mr. L. G. Munk of Breton, Alberta. The wedding will take place on Saturday, December 19, at 2 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church, with Canon George Biddle officiating.

Gifts From Your Kitchen

Canadian cheese is always a welcome gift—fun to fix, fun to give, and fun to open. Might team up some good Canadian cheddar with an inexpensive Canadian hand-crafted cheese board... or send cheese along "from your house to theirs" with a handy cheese cutter, half a dozen novel hors d'oeuvre knives, or a smart basket for the accompanying fruit or crackers.

Complete With Tray
Set your gift of cheese on an inexpensive tin tray that you've painted in smartly modern colors. And why not include your favourite cheese dip recipe, along with the other ingredients?

Cranberry Valvet

Here's a dessert idea to use from now till Christmas. It's elegant, and easy to make. Whip a cup of cream and fold in a cup of whole cranberry sauce, and half a cup each of drained crushed pineapple and tiny marshmallows. Chill well and serve simply—spooned into sherbets.

Holiday Squares

Ever try giving those delicious Date Squares (or Matrimonial Cake) the cranberry touch? Just make up that butter, sugar, flour and oats mixture, pat half of it in the pan, then spread a layer of thick cranberry sauce over the crumbly base. Add a sprinkling of orange rind, then top with the rest of the oats mixture. Bake 40 to 45 minutes at 350°F. Serve warm or cold, cut in squares. Great dessert for the holiday season topped with ice cream!

Party Pâté

With party time around the corner, here's a wonderful way to make a really excellent mock-pâté to serve with crackers, pre-dinner! Beat a large package (8-ounces) of cream cheese until soft and blend in 1½ pounds of liver-wurst and 2 teaspoons finely-chopped onion. That's all there is to it, but be sure to keep it refrigerated until serving time.

Butter-Up The Bird

Make a mental note for Christmas... that the bestest birds are really "buttered-up"! Meaning they're butter-basted throughout the roasting time, as well as having lots of butter in the stuffing. Ummm, let's not wait till Christmas for a scrummy turkey dinner.

Paris Beauty Treatments Help Patients Recover

By PEGGY MANN

PARIS (Reuters)—Women in more French hospitals may get beauty treatments to lift their morale if experiments conducted by staff doctors in seven Paris hospitals prove as successful as they appear.

Arguing that a woman tends to feel as well as she looks and that a new hair-do, make-up and manicure are often more effective than a tonic, these doctors introduced beauty treatments by a new organization called "the home beauty service."

So far, they have proved to be especially effective in the case of psychiatric patients and women suffering from nervous depression. Two of the hospitals which have authorized the new service specialize in mental and emotional disorders.

MANICURE ENDS BITING

A 20-year-old girl suffering from a nervous breakdown immediately stopped biting her finger nails after the doctor had prescribed a manicure.

A woman paralysed from the waist down showed a physical improvement after a visit from the beauty expert. New mothers in the maternity wards are also enthusiastic clients.

The Home Beauty Service was the idea of Mrs. Francoise Rouff, a strikingly beautiful 29-year-old Frenchwoman who was in charge of the Elizabeth Arden salon in Paris for 10 years before starting a business of her own.

She got the idea from a patient who asked Elizabeth Arden to send a beauty expert out to the hospital to give her a facial massage.

Since she started the service requests for appointments have been coming in at the rate of more than 125 a week.

The complete beauty treatment includes a facial and rejuvenating mask, a dry shampoo, finger wave, hair styling, and a manicure. The entire treatment lasts one hour.

Channel 7 has announced signing of a contract for exclusive TV rights to all of the Seattle Totems' hockey games during this season, plus first refusal on the playoffs.

First game to be shown by KIRO-TV will be the Portland-Seattle game in Portland Dec. 5. It will start at 8:30 p.m., approximately the end of the first period, and the broadcaster will be former KING sports-voice Bill Moyer. Unfortunately for Victoria, there's a Vancouver-Victoria game here Dec. 5.

The Board of Broadcast Governors in Ottawa has approved a power increase, to 19,000 watts from 370, for CKDA-FM, as well as construction of standby transmitters for CJVI and CPAX.

CKDA-FM will be renamed CFMS, operate at 98.5 megacycles and broadcast probably from 6 p.m. to midnight daily starting early in 1965. Its transmission tower will be on Triangle Mountain in Mission and its programs will be different from the regular CKDA fare.

Press Gallery Debates Proposed Move

OTTAWA (CP)—The Parliamentary Press Gallery, its 128 members overflowing space originally designed for 35 in the Centre Block of the Parliament Buildings, has been asked by Commons Speaker Allan Macnaughton to consider moving its main activity off Parliament Hill.

The issue has created some conflict within the Canadian Parliamentary Press Gallery Association, made up of the news paper, magazine, radio and TV reporters who report news of Parliament and the government on a full-time basis.

Mr. Macnaughton has also proposed that the present Centre Block quarters be turned into a "hot room" with common facilities for filing urgent news.

Some Press Gallery members already occupy private offices in downtown Ottawa, but the proposed move would require the gallery facilities only for fast-breaking news.

Those who are interested in pottery will find the Tea Dust Souffle glaze on the Pilgrim's Bottle well worth studying for its unusual surface, quite heavily etched in places. The shape of the bottle is also typical of high-ranking pottery of Japanese origin.

More sophisticated in design, the Drum Vase in Agano Ware belongs to the 18th century with Tea Jar in Shigaraki ware.

As well as lacquer and pottery, the 19th century brush drawings and watercolors main.

They will study all aspects of forest protection including fire, and will tour the new federal forest service laboratory before returning home.

Malaysian Given Death Sentence

JOHORE BAHRU, Malaysia (AP)—A Malaysian, who admitted having been trained in Indonesia, was sentenced to death Saturday for his role in an Indonesian-directed guerrilla landing on Malaysia's southwest coast. The defendant, Lim Song Hui, 21, was convicted on charges of having taken part in an Aug. 17 seaborne invasion.

Good news for the man who's over 40 and concerned about his health.

When you're over 40 you begin to realize that good health may not always be yours. If you're wise you make the necessary adjustments—you enjoy life, but you don't overtax yourself.

Life insurance suddenly becomes more important, too. You want to make sure that all the gaps are plugged, now.

But uncertain health could make life insurance difficult to buy—more costly. Who can help you?

Manufacturers Life probably can. We believe life insurance should be available to as wide a group of people as possible—including people with coronaries, high blood pressure, or ulcers for example—at lowest possible cost. In fact, our company was the first to offer life insurance to men and women with diabetes.

If you are under 80 and worried about your life insurance because you are worried about your health, give your Man from Manufacturers a call. He'll review your present insurance and show you how Manufacturers Life may be able to plug any gaps there are in it—without placing you under any obligation.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One of the major problems in planting up a small garden is to find plants which are capable of paying the rent for the space they occupy.

In the larger layouts, you can afford to carry such brief bloomers as the peony and the lilac, indescribably beautiful for 10 days or two weeks, but nothing much to look at for the rest of the year; but the smaller the garden the more essential it is to look for plants which declare dividends two or even three times a year.

This thought was prompted by a graceful little tree which is in full view from the window in which I do my writing. It is Amelanchier canadensis, affectionately known as the Snowy Mesquit, and it is truly a triple-value plant.

Standing about 10 feet tall, it was sheathed in the spring with a snowy mass of white blossoms, making a lovely if short-lived display against the pinkish expanding new leaves.

This was followed in early summer by colorful berries in a purple-red shade, attracting many winged visitors, while the late, late show came last month when the leaves turned a gorgeous light bronze, with here and there a patch of scarlet.

There are several triple-value plants among the viburnums. Their flat-headed trusses of blossoms are attractive, their berries color up well, and some kinds put up a brilliant display of autumn colors in the foliage.

Strangely enough, one of the best from this triple-display standpoint is the common V. lantana, the Wayfaring tree, seldom planted in gardens but commonly used by nurserymen as a rootstock to carry grafts of the more exotic varieties.

It is a tree-like shrub, 10 to 12 feet when fully grown, carrying four-inch clusters of white blossoms in late June, berries which turn from brilliant red to black, and flaming autumn foliage.

Beauty of both shape and color is seen in the foliage of Rhus cotinus, the Smoke tree. Here the long-stalked leaves are pleasing in outline, almost transparent as the sun shines through them, and wine red in autumn.

There is an additional dividend, though, for as the bush approaches maturity, it will form its flimsy inflorescences, pale pink at first, then turning to pinky-grey as summer turns to autumn, creating a misty effect which gives this sumas a nickname of Smoke tree.

Probably the most commonly grown of all the three-act shrubs is the flowering currant—Ribes sanguineum. It is a fine shrub in all respects, but for extra value it is well worthwhile planting its cousin, the Golden currant, R. aureum.

This one bears trails of golden blossoms in spring, sweetly fragrant, followed by black fruits in summer. And for extra value, the foliage turns to a kaleidoscope of brilliant colors in the fall.

De Gaulle Aghast, Reports ART BUCHWALD

When in Texas, Do As . . .

WASHINGTON—It is not generally known that President de Gaulle planned to visit President Johnson right after the U.S. elections, but somehow plans went askew. A few days after the election President de Gaulle's foreign minister came into his office and said, "Monsieur le president, I have just received word from our ambassador concerning your state visit to the United States. I have the tentative schedule with me."

"Good. What time do I get to Washington?"

"You're not going to Washington. You're going to the LBJ ranch in Texas."

"Alors?"

"We will fly directly from Paris to Texas, where you and Mrs. de Gaulle will be met by President Johnson and Mrs. Johnson in a golf cart."

"What is a golf cart?"

"It's a small car that Americans use to play golf in."

"Have you been drinking?"

"No, Monsieur le president. It is traditional on the LBJ ranch to ride around in a golf cart."

The foreign minister continued. The first thing will be a tour of the ranch. The American president will in all probability start chasing his cattle in the golf cart."

De Gaulle said, "I am not going."

"Please, Monsieur le president, listen to the rest of the schedule. After the tour you will go to the main house to rest and meet the president's relatives. Then you will be measured for a 10-gallon hat and cowboy boots."

"I have the bomb. I do not have to go."

"But, Monsieur le president,

Chancellor Erhard did it. After the measurements, you and Mrs. de Gaulle will be escorted outside to a barbecue."

"What is a barbecue?"

"It is a western-type dinner consisting of pork ribs, sausages, beef briskets and chicken legs cooked over a smoky fire and smeared with a very hot sauce. It is served with hot chili beans and sour dough biscuits. For dessert there is fried apple pie, served with six-shooter coffee."

"I am not only not going, I am getting out of NATO."

"Monsieur le president, our ambassador says it is important that you and the president sit down and talk."

"When do we do that?"

"Probably after you write your names in a cement block in front of the ranch house."

"What is that?"

"You have to get on your knees and write your name in a block of cement. It takes the place of laying a wreath."

"Monsieur le ministre, I think I must ask you to resign."

"I am only repeating what is in the cable."

"But when do I get to talk to the president?" de Gaulle said.

"Right after the sheepdog act. You will witness trained dogs rounding up sheep on the ranch. It's quite moving. Then you will have your talk. After the talk there will be a joint press conference held on a bale of hay and protocol hopes you will wear your Texas hat when you appear for it."

"Is that all?" de Gaulle said.

"There is one more paragraph. The ambassador wants to know what are your feelings about getting on a horse?"

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Abbe Lane calling: "Shellah, you heard Xavier Cugat's side, now please hear mine. I'm not 35, I'm 32. Cugie did not give me the apartment in New York. I bought it from him, and I haven't yet sold it. We did not spend our honeymoon in Acapulco. I had measles on my wedding night and we were in Miami. The next day we opened at the Roosevelt in New Orleans. My future husband is 38, not 35. Cugie didn't give me a Rolls Royce car and I didn't buy a Rolls Royce for my fiancée (Perry Left)—(that was someone else's story). The only true thing Cugie told you was that I am insane about Perry. You can tell my ex-husband that we are planning to have lots of children. Perry has two already and I'm delighted. I love children."

Abbe invited me to the wedding with Left in New York on December 16. It will be a great big affair . . . almost as big as the wedding that Sonja Henie and her groom tossed for Hollywood's elite last week.

Sammy Davis and Mai Britt celebrated their fourth anniversary, just the two of them in the upstairs room at Danny's, with the violins from the Copacabana, the gift of Jules Podell. This is one of the happiest marriages of show business, and that's always nice to report.

Leslie Caron flew to London for a fast weekend to see estranged husband Peter Hall who withdrew his divorce suit against her, much to her anxiety. But she has promised she will be in New York today for promotion of a picture that doesn't need it, her very fine, Father Goose with Cary Grant.

Brigitte Bardot and Audrey Hepburn as sisters? French director Jacques Demy wants them both for The Girls of Rochefort. They don't look like sisters, but not all sisters look alike. It will be made in the summer.

"Inactivity is one of the great indignities of life," says Joan Crawford who practices what she preaches. When she has a few moments off, the Crawford fingers are busy with the knitting needles. I'm quite a knitter myself and find it soothing. So does the Duke of Windsor.

Look alikes, Peter Sellers and Woody Allen, according to Mrs. Peter Sellers. Woody wrote and appears in Peter's first movie since his heart attack last year. What's New Pussycat . . . Romy Schneider is positively not talking about her big new romance in Paris. But this could explain her calmness over the Alain Delon marriage. Cleopatra is doing quite well in its general release. Perhaps they really will get their money back, although they might have to be patient.

Don't Scoff — Ask Them In

CHARLES McDOWELL

The other night on television there was a sobering interview with three men who said they spent much of their time spotting UFO's (Unidentified Flying Objects) and talking with the little people who are forever visiting Earth from outer space.

One of the men said he talked with the little visitors mostly by telepathy, but upon occasion he had invited them to his home and met them personally.

They were three feet tall and bluish green.

Another of the men said he had inspected the visitors' underground bases—UFO refueling stations, as we recall—right here on Earth. His little friends were four feet tall and bluish red.

It was explained that space people vary in stature and hue from planet to planet and galaxy to galaxy. But they are all intelligent and inclined to be nice to anyone who will approach them in a spirit of friendship and open-minded scientific inquiry.

The trouble is, we were told earnestly, most Earth people just keep on scoffing. The space people have communicated with every head of state on Earth, but none of them, not even de Gaulle, will pay attention.

This was not a science fiction program. These were contemporary people being interviewed on the ABC's Les Crane show. They had the fierce light of revealed truth in their eyes, but they tried hard to be good sports about Crane's scoffing manner.

One of the experts—the one with the most ingratiatingly tolerant manner toward all of us doubting idiots in the audience—turned out to be the president of the national association of UFO fans. If we heard him right, he said the association had 40,000 members who spent their spare time spotting extraterrestrial flying machines, filing reports and generally keeping themselves in readiness to talk with little people.

We had not realized that anything like that many people were UFO experts or working to become UFO experts. On balance, it seems to us to be too many.

We have been trying for several days to think of suitable enterprises for UFO fans, but all that comes to mind is the Giant California Condor problem. We mention it as an example of the work that needs doing.

The Giant California Condor, survivor of the Pleistocene Age, a majestic bird with an 11-foot wingspan, is almost extinct. The National Audubon Society desperately needs spotters to look for the estimated 40 remaining birds, file reports on them and be kind and hospitable to them.

Come on fellows, at least consider it. You will find that there are interesting flying objects right here in the real world.

Students Prefer Talk to Partying

By JUDITH BAINES

The University of Victoria academic symposium held in Parksville last weekend was designed to make students think and discuss.

It succeeded so well that groups of students and professors could be found talking and arguing late Saturday night, a time traditionally reserved for partying.

About 75 students and 15 professors gathered for three days to discuss various aspects of the topic, Quo Vadis, University of Victoria.

CONSTRUCTIVE SUPPORT

Discussion began Friday night after a keynote address by university president Dr. Malcolm Taylor in which he considered the place of the University of Victoria in the community, the nation and the world.

He felt students have a responsibility to "combine fun and high spirits with constructive support of the community."

Symposium Proves Success

Dr. Taylor also discussed the education of graduate students in which Canada was "far behind" with 40 per cent of university faculties imported from other countries.

"We cannot expect other nations to go on providing teachers for Canadian universities," he said.

COMMON LOVE

Other speakers were Dr. John de Lucca, of the department of philosophy, who discussed university education from a philosophical point of view, and Roger Bishop, head of the English department.

Dr. de Lucca said the goal of a university education, "wisdom rather than knowledge", is sought by a community of scholars tied together by a common love of learning.

"A university should not be compartmentalized like a shopping centre even if the campus looks like one," he said.

Mr. Bishop said the main purpose of a university is to provide training in "rational scepticism" and to teach that "why" is the most important word in the English language.

Students questioned all the facets of the university from the curriculum to the counselling service. Two panels, each consisting of two students and two faculty members, also discussed the role and goal of the university student, and communication within the university community.

Hospital Action Urged on Saanich

Saanich council should take the lead in having a new hospital built in the municipality, says council candidate Aubrey Squire.

Mr. Squire also said council should be seeking two or three liquor stores for Saanich instead of one.

He feels an investigation by a firm of business consultants would insure the municipality is operating efficiently.

The first step towards having a hospital, Mr. Squire said, is to buy suitable property.

To raise the necessary money council should institute a public subscription campaign.

Mr. Squire said it would be uneconomical to expand the two existing hospitals and suggested a new hospital should be affiliated with the University of Victoria to facilitate medical training.

HIGHWAY WORK

The 54-year-old father of two favors a capital works program and improvement of Patricia Bay Highway.

Mr. Squire has lived in Greater Victoria for the past 50 years and is a telephone technician.

Meanwhile Victoria fireman Edward Ball became the 10th candidate Monday when he filed his nomination papers. Three others are expected to file.

Mrs. Nora Lindsay of 5222 Santa Clara Avenue, has filed papers for the trustee's seat on district 63 school board.

Four candidates for Oak Bay council have now filed for the three vacancies in the Dec. 12 election.

Saanich Has $28,000 Parks Plan

Saanich council probably will spend $28,000 on parks during the 1965 winter works program.

The parks and recreation committee recommended that council approve projects submitted by Parks Superintendent A. E. Richman.

Mr. Richman expects council will recover $8,500 from the federal government but is not counting on any return from the provincial government.

HELP BOUGHT
Under the plan some construction of buildings and picnic tables and seeding and grading will be completed at Layritz, Copley, Vantreight and Gyro parks, along with beach access. In other business the committee recommended that council write to Saanich-Esquimalt MP

George Chatterton asking his help in having a defence department building removed from and council hopes to have the building removed to facilitate a Mount Tolmie summit.

The building, which has housed full-scale park development.

Friends Die Same Day

Two southern Vancouver Island women, friends for more than 50 years, died Monday, one at age 90, the other 91.

Mrs. Mary Louise Parsell, 91, of 1150 Benvenuto Avenue, Brentwood, came to Victoria in 1901 and went to Brentwood Bay in 1905 where her husband, Robert James, who died in 1938, was employed with B.C. Cement.

Mr. Parsell was stationary engineer at the site of what is now Butchart Gardens when the first sack of cement was turned out.

CORRESPONDENT

Mrs. Parsell was for many years Brentwood Bay correspondent for The Daily Colonist.

One of her best friends in the 1910's was Mrs. Mina Tapscott, wife of Rev. Fred Tapscott, of Sluggett Memorial Church. Their friendship continued through the years.

Mrs. Tapscott, lived at 3342 Whittier Avenue.

Funeral services for Mrs. Parsell will be held 3:30 p.m. Thursday at Hayward's.

TWO DAUGHTERS

Funeral services for Mrs. Tapscott will be held 4:30 p.m. Wednesday from McCall Bros.

Surviving Mrs. Parsell are two daughters, Mrs. Winnie Miles, Nanaimo and Mrs. Anne Turner, Victoria and one son, Norman, of Brentwood.

Surviving Mrs. Tapscott is one daughter, Helen at home and one sister, Miss Margaret Washburn, of Smith Falls, Ontario.

City Watches Mall

Busy Santa Street Not on City Maps

By TED GASKELL

It may not be on the map, nor in the city directory but in the next few weeks, Santa Street, Victoria, is going to become one of the busiest and best-known thoroughfares on lower Vancouver Island.

For the Christmas season Broad Street between Fort and View will become a mall known as Santa Street and a brand new house—Santa's, naturally—has been erected there.

At 6:30 a.m. Monday the A-frame building from Stewart and Hudson was set down between the two Eaton's stores.

Doug Taylor supervised the moving, assisted by Rick Taylor, Ray Hovind and Gene Birakowski.

Santa Street will have its own transit system, too.

But not huge buses with everybody fighting over fares and wondering if they'll get a seat, but a miniature railway complete with gasoline engine, three cars and seating for 15 young passengers.

SPECIAL TRAIN

The Christmas special, with its 150 feet of circular track and 25 feet of tunnel, is the only one of its kind in Canada. It was made in New York for a touring circus and is now owned by Michael Schreiner of Vancouver.

The mall will be officially opened Friday night and Santa will make his first appearance in his A-frame house Saturday.

Christmas trees and lights will decorate the mall and Eaton's will have special Christmas window displays facing on Santa Street, and a canopy between the two stores.

PERMANENT?

City Hall is interested in the Santa Street idea, not just out of Christmas goodwill.

With one block of Broad street closed, traffic patterns, are being studied and the possibility of a permanent mall is being considered.

Housewife Moves
Bullet Misses

A Saanich housewife left herette, said the bullet pierced her kitchen sink briefly Sunday night and returned to find a .22-calibre bullet imbedded in a sink-top cabinet, police reported Monday.

Two rifles were seized a short time later by police from a group of three youths who said they had been shooting rats.

ELDEST 19
Eldest of the youths was Thomas Hamer, 19, of 4856 Townsend Drive. The two others were 15 years old. No charges were laid late Monday.

Mrs. Frank Gardner, 659 Goy-

LACKED DOORS

She said Monday, "I had been making my husband's lunch for work today and left the kitchen for a moment. I locked all the doors and stayed away from the windows."

Her husband arrived home a few minutes later and called police. She said her two children were home in bed when the incident occurred.

Warning Tickets
For 411 Drivers

City police road checks Friday night resulted in nearly half the stopped drivers being issued warning tickets, said traffic Inspector Brooke Douglas Monday.

Of 551 drivers stopped by the 17 policemen at four checkpoints, 411 were warned about one irregularity or another.

DIFFERENT
The checks are designed to remove drinking drivers from the road and to act as a deterrent to suspended drivers who may be operating vehicles after being forbidden to drive, said the inspector.

One impaired driver was arrested, three drivers were charged with driving without a licence and one minor was charged with failing to have insurance.

NO LICENCES

A surprising 38 drivers were unable to produce driver's licences and "a good number" of these have since been found to be suspended, although all have not yet reported back to police as instructed.

Three Boys, Two Girls Doing Well

French Quints First Born in Europe

PARIS (AP) — Quintuplets weighing less than three pounds each were born Monday to Mrs. Raymond Sambor, 27, wife of a postman. The three boys and two girls were in good condition.

The babies started arriving at 2:10 p.m., and continued at intervals of about 10 minutes. "We knew a month ago they were coming, so everything was ready," said Dr. Roger Chasques, who made the deliveries.

Mrs. Sambor was already mother of two children. The first to arrive was a girl of two pounds, 2 1/2 ounces. Then came a boy of 2 1/2 pounds; a girl of two pounds, 11 ounces; a boy two pounds, 12, and the final boy, two pounds seven ounces. Each infant was placed in a waiting incubator and rushed to Paris to a national child care center. (Continued on Page 2)

Belgian Paratroopers Land in Stanleyville

30 Cars Passed While Victim Bled to Death

By BOB PETHICK

One man was killed and another injured in a spectacular crash just before 9 p.m. Monday when a late model car left the road on a curve and slammed 280 feet through a deep ditch before coming to a grinding halt.

Kenneth Mc Murray, 32, Brookridge Drive, North Vancouver, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The injured man, Stan Moraes, same address, said he stood on the Patricia Bay Highway north of Telegraph Road and frantically tried to stop passing cars for assistance.

He said more than 30 cars passed him while his companion lay bleeding to death in the ditch.

BOUND FOR FERRY
The men were apparently heading for the 9 p.m. ferry for Vancouver when the crash occurred.

The car left the road on a gradual curve about 100 yards north of Telegraph Road.

It skipped a driveway, flew through the air for about a car's length and dropped into a 15-foot ditch, continuing along until it struck a culvert.

THROAT CUT
The accident victim's head went through the windshield. His throat was cut on the jagged edge of the windshield glass.

Central Saanich volunteer fire department ambulance rushed Mr. McMurray to hospital, but he was dead on arrival.

The car was not visible from the highway due to the depth of the ditch.

The death was the first fatal accident in Central Saanich since July, 1963, but it was the sixth traffic death on the Patricia Bay Highway in the past six months.

FIRST TO STOP
Truck driver Alan Peters, 3027 Tillicum Road, who was on his way into Victoria, first noticed Mr. Moraes waving frantically from the side of the road.

He stopped immediately and Mr. Moraes asked for help. Mr. Moraes told Mr. Peters his friend was seriously injured in the car.

SAW LIGHTS
Dave Venables of 2123 Amity Drive noticed the lights of the wrecked car in the headlights of his truck and made an immediate U-turn.

"They told me there was a seriously injured man in the car. I figured I couldn't do any good there, so I drove to the nearest house and phoned the police," said Mr. Venables.

"The ambulance sure got here in a hurry," he said.

Mr. McMurray was in Victoria visiting his father, Capt. R. W. McMurray, Union Club.

BULLETIN

The state department said that 117 hostages had been freed and gathered at the Stanleyville airport shortly after dawn today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. state department announced today that a battalion of Belgian paratroopers carried by U.S. military planes landed at Stanleyville at dawn in an attempt to rescue more than 1,000 American and other white hostages from Congolese rebels.

Washington officials said reports from The Congo showed there was little resistance to the start of the operation and only minor casualties.

CLEARED AIRFIELD
The first Belgian paratroopers jumped to the airfield at Stanleyville and cleared the field so that planes could land with the rest. Probably about 600 troops were involved. They were carried by 12 U.S. C-130 transport planes.

The United Nations was informed of the operation, state department officials said. And they said the rescue was authorized in advance by the Congo government at Leopoldville. The state department released a letter of authorization from Premier Moise Tshombe to U.S. Ambassador G. McMurtre Godley.

FIFTY-NINE AMERICANS
A state department compilation showed there are 29 Americans in Stanleyville and 30 elsewhere in the rebel-held Congo—a total of 59.

More than 30 Canadians have also been held by the rebels. In addition, other hostages, including men, women and children of a half-dozen or more European countries and from India and Pakistan gave a total of 1,110 foreigners in Stanleyville. With 472 persons elsewhere in rebel territory, the total was 1,612.

New NATO Nuclear Role For Canadian Forces?

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal authorities, including cabinet ministers, now are giving the most serious attention to the possibility of an about-turn in long-term Canadian nuclear weapons policy.

A policy switch to a continuing nuclear role in the North Atlantic alliance might be undertaken, sources say, as one means of trying to prevent an outright break between France and the United States and to induce France to take a greater part in alliance strategy.

Informants emphasized that no definite new policy has yet taken form and that no decisions have been taken.

But even behind-the-scenes discussions were an indication of the seriousness with which the government regarded the split between the U.S. and

France and the extent to which Canada might be prepared to go to heal the breach.

When the Liberal government took office in April, 1963, it said its adoption of nuclear warheads for the armed forces was simply the carrying out of commitments entered into by the previous Conservative administration.

Since then, government spokesmen, including Prime Minister Pearson, have indicated that Canada would withdraw from this nuclear role as soon as decently possible.

FRANCE OBJECTS
Britain has proposed changes in the U.S.-proposed NATO seaborne nuclear force of some 25 merchant ships armed with 200 Polaris missiles, a proposal to which France has taken keen exception.

The thinking here is that if Britain proposes putting its entire independent nuclear strike force under NATO command, France might be persuaded to do the same if other alliance members were also willing to go along.

Moreover, External Affairs Minister Martin has indicated that Canada wants to see Paris and Washington settle down to some serious talks and that this country wouldn't object to playing a mediation role.

NATO MEETING
Prime Minister Wilson will be here Dec. 9 for talks with Mr. Pearson and later in the month Mr. Martin and Defence Minister Hellyer will attend the annual summit meeting of NATO in Paris.

Twins Seeking End Of Deportation Bid

OTTAWA (CP) — Giuseppe and Rocco Violi, 24-year-old Italian twins who have been in Montreal's Bordeaux prison for eight months, asked the Supreme Court of Canada Monday to quash deportation orders issued against them some two years ago.

The court reserved judgment on the action instituted by Paola Violi of Montreal, brother of Giuseppe and Rocco. The action was opposed by the immigration department.

LANDED IMMIGRANTS
Giuseppe and Rocco entered Canada as landed immigrants Dec. 28, 1959. Giuseppe was convicted in Montreal Dec. 23, 1961, for failing to stop his automobile at the scene of an accident and was sentenced to a fine, and Rocco was convicted July 20, 1961, of causing bodily harm with a knife and was sentenced to jail for six months.

As a result of these convictions, Giuseppe was ordered deported Oct. 16, 1962, and Rocco Feb. 1, 1961. Their appeals to the immigration appeal board were dismissed.

CASES REVIEWED
On March 31, 1961, Giuseppe and Rocco were arrested in Montreal by immigration authorities and placed in Bordeaux. They received letters from the immigration department that their cases had been reviewed and it had been decided to carry out the deportation orders.

The flight was TWA 800, which originated in Kansas City and stopped at Chicago, New York, Paris and Milan before reaching Rome. It was going on from here to Athens and Cairo.

Airport employees and passengers waiting for other flights in the sprawling, modern air terminal at Rome's seaside Fiumicino field, described the disaster this way:

The four-jet plane started down the main runway parallel to the sea. It gathered speed then faltered. Flames erupted from one of the wheel assemblies.

As the pilot tried to brake to a stop, the plane wobbled and swung from left to right. The plane careened across another runway under repair.

It appeared under control, but suddenly the right outboard motor hit the grader. The plane went another 200 yards, doors opened and passengers began tumbling out. At that moment explosions ripped it apart.

The force threw some passengers 80 yards from the plane. All the dead were among those trapped in the plane, which was quickly engulfed in flames.

Plane Explodes, 43 Killed During Takeoff at Rome

ROME (CP-AP) — Forty-four persons, including two Roman Catholic prelates from the United States and possibly a passenger from Toronto, died Monday when a Trans-World Airlines Boeing-707 jetliner hit a road grader and exploded into flames after faltering on takeoff.

Twenty-nine persons survived, but eight were in critical condition.

TWA IDENTIFIED
The airlines said Pandelis P. Tassamios, of Canada, was booked to Athens on the ill-fated flight, but he was not on the preliminary list of survivors.

KILLED
The company gave his address only as 1022 Broadway Avenue. It did not have a record of what city he was from. But in Toronto, Mrs. George Christie, owner of an apartment house at that address, said a man she knew by that name left for Athens Sunday.

Aboard the airliner were 56 persons were employees of TWA passengers and a crew totalling 17. Twenty-two of the passengers included 22 passengers and seven crew members.

Former Aides to Two Ministers, Narcotics Smuggling Case Linked

BRIBE CHARGE ROCKS HOUSE

Nielsen Cites Tremblay, Favreau Men Douglas Says 'Higher Up' Involved

OTTAWA (CP)—Conservative MP Erik Nielsen, rocked the Commons Monday when he charged that a former executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay offered a $20,000 bribe to a lawyer in a narcotics smuggling case.

Mr. Nielsen said Raymond Denis, now practising law in Montreal after he was fired by the government a few weeks ago, offered the bribe to Pierre Lamontagne, another Montreal lawyer, who rejected it immediately.

A lawyer and MP for Yukon, Mr. Nielsen also charged that Guy Lord, a special assistant to Justice Minister Favreau until two months ago, tried to "bribe" Mr. Lamontagne by threatening to cut off all further government legal work for him.

INQUIRY URGED
NDP leader Douglas called for a judicial inquiry into the allegations. He said he understands that a third man, higher up in the government, was involved.

Mr. Favreau said he will instruct the RCMP to complete its investigation of the allegations and will recommend to the cabinet that a judicial inquiry be held in camera, to protect the reputations and future of the two men named by Mr. Nielsen.

SEEKING RAIL
Mr. Nielsen said the two Liberal political appointees were seeking to facilitate bail for Leo Rene Maranda Rivard, who was arrested in Montreal June 19 on charges of importing heroin into the United States.

This showed that the tentacles of the Mafia, the international crime organization, had reached into the federal government. He charged that Mr. Favreau tried to cover up the case when he learned about it from the RCMP.

NOTHING TO HIDE
Mr. Favreau denied that he had anything to hide. He said he and RCMP Commissioner G. B. McCallan agreed Sept. 18 that there was not enough evidence to warrant criminal charges.

He angrily accused Mr. Nielsen of condemning Mr. Denis and Mr. Lord without a trial. Mr. Favreau, whose department is in charge of the case, said he would not comment further.

Line Tapped MP Fears

OTTAWA (CP) — Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon, said Monday night he "strongly" suspects his Parliament Hill office telephone line is being tapped.

Mr. Nielsen declined to state the grounds for his suspicions but said they have been aroused for "some time."

'They Fear Banks Will Talk'

OTTAWA (CP) — The Hal Banks case was revived in the Commons again Monday night. Eldon Woolliams (PC-Bow River) said there is "high suspicion" that the deposed boss of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (SIU) bought his freedom from the Liberal government. They were "afraid he'll talk."

Mr. Woolliams said Banks still is running the SIU through Red McLaughlin, his former aide who is running for president of the union.

When It's Necessary

OTTAWA (CP) — "The election will be called when it is necessary," Prime Minister Pearson said Monday in a Commons reply to Ken Mors (PC Regina City).

U.S. Teacher Held Hostage By Defiant Saigon Students

Saigon (AP) — Several hundred Vietnamese students barricaded themselves in a school Monday in protest against the military draft and held several foreign teachers, including one U.S. woman, apparently as hostages.

Police who tried to open the main gate of Le Quy Don school were met with a barrage of rocks, tables, chairs and blackboards from the windows of the five-story building where Saigon's upper middle class and wealthy families send their children.

Bamfield Man Critical After Crash

(Special to the Colonist)

The driver, one of six Bamfield area residents injured in Vancouver Island's most serious weekend traffic accident, remained in critical condition Monday night in Port Alberni's West Coast General Hospital.

Clubs Push Hunt For Killer

VANCOUVER (Special)—Information which could lead to the conviction of the transporter who killed or killed should be sent "immediately" to the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs, 1330 Dominion Street, Burnaby 2, B.C.

The federation made a statement Monday in reminding the public it has posted a $250 reward for information leading to the conviction of the person or persons who killed one of the rare birds near Campbell River and wounded another.

Textbook Attacked By Priest

COURTENAY—A B.C. high school textbook has been attacked by Anglican minister Rev. W. J. Lunny for stressing what he called "the pagan secular world in which Christians now live."

The minister of St. John's Church here and St. Andrew's in Sandwick Sunday told his parishioners of the Grade 11 guidance-course textbook Understanding Yourself and Your Society.

REMNANT OF PAST

Mr. Lunny said his parishioners were a remnant left over from the Christian past, and most of them do not really understand the secular world of today.

Citing the book, he said their children were being taught there was no such thing as right and wrong because morals are only the convention of a particular society.

ON WAY OUT

The children were also being taught that religion was on its way out although "priests and ministers are still called upon to conduct marriages, perform baptisms and officiate at funerals."

Mr. Lunny attacked a chapter in the book on adjustment which emphasizes conformity and a chapter which implies man is an animal dominated by a hunger drive, a thirst drive and a sex drive.

CONTAIN SEX DRIVE

He said the book suggests a family is formed for economic betterment and to contain the sex drive.

The logical conclusion of this kind of thinking, said Mr. Lunny, can be seen in those people who advocate girls be handed birth control pills when they reach maturity.

He said Christians must study, pray and experiment to be able to lead society out of the "present morass of secular paganism" to the future of Christ.

Cobble Hill Woman In School Board Race

DUNCAN—Hamish Sibbald of Cobble Hill has joined the race for two unorganized area seats on the Cowichan district school board. She will oppose incumbent Will Peck and newcomers Jack Wilson of Glenora and H. A. Wilson of South Trans-Canada Highway. The other incumbent, board vice-chairman Pat Mason of Shawigan Lake, will not seek re-election.

PORT ALBERNI—G. W. Gray, connected with school affairs in the Alberni Valley since 1938, says he will seek re-election to the district school board next month. He was a member of the Beaver Creek board before the districts merged in 1946 and has been a rural representative on the district board ever since. He was chairman for some years.

Nanaimo Juveniles Take Police On Hectic Chase

NANAIMO—A weekend police chase at speeds of up to more than 100 miles an hour brought two boys before Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts in juvenile court Monday.

A 15-year-old faced three charges of car theft and one of criminal negligence, while a 16-year-old faced two counts of car theft. Both pleaded guilty to all charges and were remanded to Dec. 7 for pre-sentence reports.

Police testified the boys were at a downtown party Saturday night and stole a station wagon owned by John Hanlon, 73 Victoria Road, on their way home

About 1:45 a.m. Sunday the station wagon ran out of gas and was abandoned at Eberts and Girvin.

The police said the boys tried several cars before taking one belonging to Glen Phillips, 922 Cadogan, who heard the car leaving and phoned RCMP.

Two officers in a highway patrol car were on their way to investigate an accident when they spotted the stolen car heading south through Nanaimo.

100 Miles an Hour

These officers say they turned around and had to travel at speeds exceeding 100 miles an hour just to keep up with the stolen car.

They said the car passed cars on the highway north of Nanaimo against solid double lines at speeds of up to 80, fishtailed several times taking corners too fast and almost went out of control crossing the Nanaimo over-head bridge.

The chase came to an abrupt end, the witnesses said, when the 15-year-old driver stopped the car in the middle of the road leading to Lantzville about one mile from the cutoff.

Both occupants of the car fled. The two boys were apprehended after a short chase on foot through surrounding bushland.

Four Others Charged

While the foot chase was in progress the Phillips car rolled off the road, hit a propane storage tank, went through a hedge and stopped on a lawn.

Police said the 15-year-old also admitted a car theft Nov. 14. Also appearing in juvenile court were three 15-year-old boys and a 14-year-old boy charged with breaking into Capitol Trading and Loan Co., 2 Victoria Road, Nov. 17.

More than $500 worth of watches, radios, cameras and razors were stolen. Police said some of the articles were sold to sailors on a freighter, some thrown into the harbor at the assembly wharf and some recovered in two suitcases.

Robbery, Violence For Beer Admitted

PORT ALBERNI—A charge of robbery with violence was laid in magistrate's court Monday after an incident involving a case of beer.

Andrew Tate pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded by Magistrate W. E. MacLeod to Dec. 10 for sentence. A juvenile charged with the same offence was remanded to Friday for sentence.

BEER TAKEN

Court was told the case of beer was taken from Port Alberni resident Steve Savie during the weekend, but the victim lent aspect of the case was not stated by police witnesses.

In other cases, Richard Cuss pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance by using obscene language on Victoria Quay and was given a four-month suspended sentence.

FINED $20

Ernest Daniel Johnson was fined a total of $20, or in default 30 days in jail, after pleading guilty to impaired driving and driving without a licence.

Simon Dennis pleaded not guilty to charges of car theft and possession of stolen property and was remanded to Thursday for trial.

Alberni-Area Meeting Tonight

Trustees Spurn Parents' Plea

PORT ALBERNI—The Alberni district school board Monday night refused the request of parents in the Arrowsmith Heights area east of the Port Alberni boundary for bus transportation for their 29 children.

Spokesmen for the parents immediately said they will call the parents to a meeting, probably tonight, recommend rejection of the school board's stand and decide future action by the parents.

TWO NAKED MEN

Bus transportation was refused by the board a week ago. Last Wednesday, two children walking home along unit, bush-fringed Burde Street saw "two naked men" and all 29 children were kept home Thursday and Friday.

They returned Monday and will be back again today pending the parents' meeting.

The school board said:

● Buses are out because the homes are within the 2½-mile walk limit set in the B.C. Public Schools Act.

● The menace of animals is a hazard to be met by the parents.

● Car pools or adult escorts should be investigated.

Parents should go to the appropriate authorities for adequate lighting and police protection.

Students Prefer Talk to Partying

By JUDITH BAINES

The University of Victoria academic symposium held in Parksville last weekend was designed to make students think and discuss.

It succeeded so well that groups of students and professors could be found talking and arguing late Saturday night, a time traditionally reserved for partying.

About 75 students and 15 professors gathered for three days to discuss various aspects of the topic, Quo Vadis, University of Victoria.

CONSTRUCTIVE SUPPORT

Discussion began Friday night after a keynote address by university president Dr. Malcolm Taylor in which he considered the place of the University of Victoria in the community, the nation and the world.

He felt students have a responsibility to "combine fun and high spirits with constructive support of the community."

Dr. Taylor also discussed the education of graduate students in which Canada was "far behind" with 40 per cent of university faculties imported from other countries.

"We cannot expect other nations to go on providing teachers for Canadian universities," he said.

COMMON LOVE

Other speakers were Dr. John de Luca, of the department of philosophy, who discussed university education from a philosophical point of view, and Roger Bishop, head of the English department.

Dr. de Luca said the goal of a university education, "wisdom rather than knowledge," is sought by a community of scholars tied together by a common love of learning.

A university should not be compartmentalized like a shopping centre even if the campus looks like one," he said.

Mr. Bishop said the main purpose of a university is to pro-

Move Blocks Demolition Of Hospital

NANAIMO—A lawyer acting for alderman candidate J. Walter Tickson announced Monday he has been instructed to seek an injunction restraining the Nanaimo Regional General Hospital Board from demolishing the old hospital on Kennedy Street.

Financed through public subscription.

The hospital board asked council for a rebate in part or whole of 1964 taxes on the old hospital. Council allotted $1,400 out of surplus funds and recommended the board request a grant of $2,975 to make up the tax total.

OTHER FUNDS

Council took other funds from the $73,400 surplus fund—$44,500 for winter works projects and contingencies and $7,500 for the Commercial Inlet development project.

The latter will make up part of an expected $17,738 loss due to the new provincial work-for-welfare rule on winter works.

WINTER WORKS

Winter works projects receiving formal approval were cemetery conversion, $15,500; road shouldering, clearing, sidewalks, drains, $23,000; completion of committee room, hallway and coat area at library, $2,650; Westwood Lake Park improvements, $2,000; civic properties and recreation commission, $1,550.

Council set aside $20,000 for a start of $46,000 worth of courthouse alterations needed to provide space for the long-awaited family court, magistrate's court and RCMP facilities.

NOT PRACTICAL

Ald. Cook said the hospital board has authority to order demolition. He said the expense of renovating the old building would not be practical, because of changing concepts on chronic care in the provincial health department.

He added the old hospital was vide training in "rational scepticism" and to teach that "why" is the most important word in the English language.

Students questioned all the facets of the university from the curriculum to the counselling service. Two panels, each consisting of two students and two faculty members, also discussed the role and goal of the university student, and communication within the university community.

Homemakers Ready In Few Weeks For Emergencies

DUNCAN—The Duncan and District Family Emergency Service, formed last spring, will be ready for operation in the next few weeks, executive member Mrs. H. R. Day said Monday.

The service, which will provide a trained woman to carry on a homemaker's duties in time of family emergencies, has also received praise from several agencies and a big industry.

SMALL FEE

Mrs. Day said the service will be operating when the first homemakers complete present training and added that, "at the moment, we can assist only those who can pay the small fee for the service."

"As soon as we have adequate funds," she said, "we can help the others, who are a small majority but whose need perhaps is greatest."

DONATIONS SOUGHT

The service is planning to raise funds by asking $50 donations from large groups and $10 from smaller ones.

Dr. S. E. Jensen, director of Island mental clinics, said he believes such a service "can help to relieve the strain and suffering of children during a mother's illness by enabling them."

CUTS PRESSURE

Dr. Gerald Bonham, director of the central Island health unit, said help in the home "promotes rehabilitation, reduces pressure on hospitals and carries the whole community toward a higher state of social well-being."

D. H. Baker, manager of the Crofton pulp and paper mill, said occasions have cropped up when employees had to take time off to care for families when the wife was ill.

REDUCE PROBLEM

"On several occasions," he said, "they had great difficulty in obtaining trained, reliable help to take over in order for them to return to work and such an emergency service is a great help."

Duncan Road Work Closer

DUNCAN — The provincial highways department has told city council plans are ready for its long-promised work on the Trans-Canada Highway through Duncan.

However, city council learned Monday night, some Duncan businessmen oppose the plan, which includes curbs and gutters, because it will create an access problem.

'NO HARDSHIP'

The department said it is willing to discuss this opposition and work out compromises "so there will be no hardship."

Council disclosed it will meet North Cowichan council in the municipal hall at 8 p.m. Friday to discuss joint ownership of Pioneer Park and the Somers water question.

North Cowichan has proposed Duncan build a one-mile, $42,000 waterline extension to 69 Somers Lake properties.

Three Boys, Two Girls Doing Well

French Quints First Born in Europe

PARIS (AP) — Quintuplets weighing less than three pounds each were born Monday to Mrs. Raymond Sambor, 27, wife of a postman. The three boys and two girls were in good condition.

The babies started arriving at 2:10 p.m., and continued at intervals of about 10 minutes. "We knew a month ago they were coming, so everything was ready," said Dr. Roger Chasques, who made the deliveries.

Mrs. Sambor was already mother of two children. The first to arrive was a girl of two pounds, 2½ ounces. Then came a boy of 2½ pounds; a girl of two pounds, 11 ounces; a boy two pounds, 12, and the final boy, two pounds seven ounces. Each infant was placed in a waiting incubator and rushed to Paris to a national child care center.

AIR RESCUE UNDERWAY

BULLETIN

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — American missionary Paul Carlson is dead, refugees arriving here from Stanleyville said today. The 26-year-old Californian had been convicted and condemned to death by a rebel court.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Congolese Premier Tshombe announced today that a unit of Belgian paratroopers has begun removing foreign white hostages from rebel-held Stanleyville.

Tshombe said the Belgian troops were flown to the rebel stronghold in U.S. air force transport planes and landed at the Stanleyville airport without encountering any resistance early today. He said the operation was accomplished "with the agreement of the Congolese government."

SOME MURDERED

The premier said the troops secured the airport and then entered the city, finding some foreigners murdered and others maltreated. Early reports said 117 had been rescued.

Tshombe made the dramatic announcement in a radio broadcast to the nation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department reported early today that more than 100 foreigners have been flown out of Stanleyville in the Congo, but that 15 to 20 foreigners are known dead.

The airlift operation was launched as a mercenary-led Congolese army attack column pushed toward Stanleyville from the south for what appeared to be a showdown battle with the rebels.

The Belgians landed after the rebel radio Monday threatened to launch a bloodbath against white hostages in rebel hands if the government troops attacked.

TAKE UP MACHETES

"If American bombardment comes to us, take up your machetes and cut up foreigners to pieces," the rebel broadcast said. There had been other reports that the rebels planned to launch a campaign of cannibalism with the hostages as the victims.

A spokesman for the U.S. embassy here said the United States provided 12 C-130 transport planes for the airlift but that no Americans were participating in the ground operation.

Tshombe said he hoped the

Belgians Freeing Hostages

American forces serving in the transport of refugees would leave "as soon as the mission is finished."

At least one battalion of Belgian troops was on the ground. One planeload of troops was known to have parachuted onto the airfield.

After securing the airport, the Belgians quickly seized parts of the city and moved to block all escape roads, presumably to prevent any white hostages from being taken away by rebels.

American officials said in Washington the paratroopers landed on the airfield at Stanleyville and quickly secured the field with little resistance and only minor casualties.

Officials said foreign civilians immediately began filtering into the airfield and that some had been wounded. There also were reports that some had been killed trying to reach the field, but officials emphasized this was not confirmed.

GROUP EVACUATED

The wounded civilians were being evacuated immediately to Leopoldville, the capital of the Congo.

Although the situation in Stanleyville was described as "confused," officials said that as of 3 a.m. more than 100 foreign civilians had reached the airfield and more were arriving.

FULL APPROVAL

The decision to send the paratroopers in was made jointly by the Belgian and American governments with the full approval of the Congolese central government of Premier Tshombe in Leopoldville.

The state department said the operation was "humanitarian, not military." It said the Belgian forces and U.S. planes would be pulled out as soon as they accomplished the evacuation of all civilians who wanted to leave.

Among those in rebel-held areas were 53 Americans, 85 Belgians, 30 Canadians, 300 Greeks and a number of other persons of various nationalities. Of the Americans, 29 were said to be in Stanleyville.

The battalion of Belgian paratroopers used in the operation was moved from Ascension Island to Kamina Sunday in preparation for the Stanleyville operation if last-ditch efforts failed to win rebel assurances of safety for the hostages.

U.S. officials were not immediately certain of whether all 600 members of the Belgian paratroop battalion were used in the operation or whether some were held in reserve at Kamina in the southern part of the Congo.

CONSTANT REPORTS

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was in the Washington operations centre at the state department into the early morning hours receiving a constant flow of reports on the operation. He and other department officials had been in communication a number of times last night with President Johnson, who is at his Texas ranch.

The first U.S. planes were over the Stanleyville airfield at about dawn Congolese time.

OUR RESPONSIBILITY

The U.S. state department said: "This landing has been made (1) with the authorization of the government of the Congo, (2) in conformity with our adherence to the Geneva conventions and (3) in exercise of our clear responsibility to protect U.S. citizens under the circumstances existing in the Stanleyville area."

The U.S. statement said the decision to undertake the rescue operation came after a conference in Nairobi, Kenya, between the U.S. ambassador William Attwood, and "foreign minister" Thomas Kanza of the rebel Congolese regime.

It said the talk made it clear that the rebels "were not concerned with the safety of the hostages or other humanitarian considerations but rather sought to use the lives of these civilians for political purposes."

New NATO Nuclear Role For Canadian Forces?

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal authorities, including cabinet ministers, now are giving the most serious attention to the possibility of an about-turn in long-term Canadian nuclear weapons policy.

A policy switch to a continuing nuclear role in the North Atlantic alliance might be undertaken, sources say, as one means of trying to prevent an outright break between France and the United States and to induce France to take a greater part in alliance strategy.

Informants emphasized that no definite new policy has yet taken form and that no decisions have been taken.

But even behind-the-scenes discussions were an indication of the seriousness with which the government regarded the split between the U.S. and

France and the extent to which Canada might be prepared to go to heal the breach.

When the Liberal government took office in April, 1963, it said its adoption of nuclear warheads for the armed forces was simply the carrying out of commitments entered into by the previous Conservative administration.

Since then, government spokesmen, including Prime Minister Pearson, have indicated that Canada would withdraw from this nuclear role as soon as decently possible.

FRANCE OBJECTS

Britain has proposed changes in the U.S.-proposed NATO seaborne nuclear force of some 25 merchant ships armed with 200 Polaris missiles, a proposal to which France has taken keen exception.

The thinking here is that if Britain proposes putting its entire independent nuclear strike force under NATO command, France might be persuaded to do the same if other alliance members were also willing to go along.

Moreover, External Affairs Minister Martin has indicated that Canada wants to see Paris and Washington settle down to some serious talks and that this country wouldn't object to playing a mediation role.

NATO MEETING

Prime Minister Wilson will be here Dec. 9 for talks with Mr. Pearson and later in the month Mr. Martin and Defence Minister Hellyer will attend the annual ministerial meeting of NATO in Paris.

LANDED IMMIGRANTS

Giuseppe and Rocco entered Canada as landed immigrants Dec. 28, 1959. Giuseppe was convicted in Montreal Dec. 22, 1961, for failing to stop his automobile at the scene of an accident and was sentenced to a fine and Rocco was convicted July 20, 1960, of causing bodily harm with a knife and was sentenced to jail for six months.

As a result of these convictions, Giuseppe was ordered deported Oct. 16, 1962, and Rocco Feb. 1, 1963. Their appeals to the immigration appeal board were dismissed.

COMMONS ROCKED

BY CHARGE

Tremblay Assistant Accused Of Offering Drug Case Bribe

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MP Erik Nielsen, rocked the Commons Monday when he charged that a former executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay offered a $20,000 bribe to a lawyer in a narcotics smuggling case.

Line Tapped MP Fears

OTTAWA (CP) — Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon, said Monday night he "strongly" suspects his Parliament Hill office telephone line is being tapped.

Mr. Nielsen declined to state the grounds for his suspicions but said they have been aroused for "some time."

Mr. Nielsen said Raymond Denis, now practising law in Montreal after he was fired by the government a few weeks ago, offered the bribe to Pierre Lamontagne, another Montreal lawyer, who rejected it immediately.

A lawyer and MP for Yukon, Mr. Nielsen also charged that Guy Lord, a special assistant to Justice Minister Favreau until two months ago, tried to "coerce" Mr. Lamontagne by threatening to cut off all further government legal work for him.

INQUIRY URGED

NDP leader Douglas called for a judicial inquiry into the allegations. He said he understands that a third man, higher up in the government, was involved.

Mr. Favreau said he will instruct the RCMP to complete its investigation of the allegations and will recommend to the cabinet that a judicial inquiry be held in camera, to protect the reputations and future of the two men named by Mr. Nielsen.

SEEKING BAIL

Mr. Nielsen said the two Liberal political appointees were seeking to facilitate bail for Leo Rene Maranda Rivard, who was arrested in Montreal June 19 on charges of importing heroin into the United States.

This showed that the tentacles of the Mafia, the international crime organization, had reached into the federal government. He charged that Mr. Favreau tried to cover up the case when he learned about it from the RCMP.

NOTHING TO HIDE

Mr. Favreau denied that he had anything to hide. He said he and RCMP Commissioner G. B. McCalligan agreed Sept. 18 that there was not enough evidence to warrant criminal charges.

He angrily accused Mr. Nielsen of condemning Mr. Denis and Mr. Lord without a trial.

Mr. Favreau, whose departure was announced Monday, said: "I have nothing to hide."

When It's Necessary

OTTAWA (CP) — "The election will be called when it is necessary," Prime Minister Pearson said Monday in a Commons reply to Ken More (PC-Regina City).

U.S. Teacher Held Hostage By Defiant Saigon Students

SAIGON (AP) — Several hundred Vietnamese students barricaded themselves in a school Monday in protest against the military draft and held several foreign teachers, including one U.S. woman, apparently as hostages.

Police who tried to open the main gate of Le Quy Don school were met with a barrage of rocks, tables, chairs and blackboards from the windows of the five-story building where Saigon's upper middle class and wealthy families send their children.

The high national council of 15 civilians went into session for three hours but issued no statement after the meeting ended. Presumably the council, which has the power to arrest, is deliberating on the use of force to break up anti-government demonstrations Sunday and political demands for his ouster.

Guerrillas Add Sting

HONG KONG (LAT) — New China news agency reports Communist Viet Cong fighters are developing a home-grown air force with plenty of buzz and sting—wasps.

In a recapitulation of Viet Cong October operations in Tan An and Cholon provinces of South Viet Nam, the Red news agency reported that guerrillas had dug 111 spike-pit booby traps and had placed 130 wasp hives "to be unleashed on the aggressors."

Plane Explodes, 43 Killed

ROME (CP-AP) — Forty-four persons, including two Roman Catholic prelates from the United States and possibly a passenger from Toronto, died Monday when a Trans-World Airlines Boeing-707 jetliner hit a road grader and exploded into flames after falling on take-off.

Twenty-nine persons survived, but eight were in critical condition.

TWA identified the prelates killed as Msgr. Edward C. Daly, 70, who had been bishop of Des Moines, Iowa, since May 12, 1948, and Msgr. Joseph Sordani, of Atlantic Iowa. They had been attending the Vatican ecumenical council which recessed Saturday and were heading for Athens.

The airlines said Pandelis P. Tasamnis of Canada was booked to Athens on the ill-fated flight, but he was not on the preliminary list of survivors.

The company gave his address only as 1622 Broadway Avenue—it did not have a record of what city he was from.

But in Toronto, Mrs. George Christie, owner of an apartment house at that address, said a man she knew by that name left for Athens Sunday.

Aboard the airliner were 56 passengers and a crew totalling 17. Twenty-two of the passengers were employees of TWA and their dependents.

The survivors included 22 passengers and seven crew members.

The flight was TWA 800, which originated in Kansas City and stopped at Chicago, New York, Paris and Milan before reaching Rome. It was going on from here to Athens and Cairo.

Airport employees and passengers waiting for other flights in the sprawling, modern air terminal at Rome's seaside Fiumicino field described the disaster this way:

The four-jet plane started down the main runway parallel to the sea. It gathered speed, then faltered. Flames erupted from one of the wheel assemblies.

As the pilot tried to brake to a stop, the plane wobbled and swung from left to right. The plane careened across another runway under repair.

It appeared under control, but suddenly the right outboard motor hit the grader. The plane went another 200 yards, doors opened and passengers began jumping out. At that moment explosions ripped it apart.
